

Report May End B.C.'s Trouble With Douks

Bevin Advocates Free Trade For Commonwealth

SOUTHPORT, Eng. (CP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin called for a British Commonwealth customs union today and said the United States should redistribute its gold hoard buried in Kentucky.

Addressing the Trades Union Congress, Bevin said his proposal for an Empire customs union—the elimination of tariffs in Commonwealth trade—was made on his own responsibility.

He was not speaking for the Cabinet, he said.

The Foreign Secretary said that for the United States to put into circulation its huge gold stock, idle in underground vaults at Fort Knox in Kentucky for a decade, would constitute "one of the readiest ways to assist in increasing the purchasing power of the devastated areas of the world."

Bevin did not explain whether he was speaking literally or symbolically in proposing redistribution of the gold. Nor did he indicate whether he believed the idea could be integrated with the Marshall proposal for Europe's economic rehabilitation. (The United States now owns over $21,765,827,000 worth of gold, about three-fifths of the known world holdings of gold for monetary purposes. Approximately $12,500,000,000 is kept at Fort Knox, army stronghold in Kentucky. These figures do not include commercial gold.)

COMMON DEFENCE

Of his proposal for a Commonwealth customs union, Bevin said:

"I do not think we can avoid any longer common defence and the acceptance of certain common economic principles if we are to avoid these constant recurring crises," he said.

"We have got to settle this balance-of-payments business in the world or it will be constant chaos. There are ways of settling it. I know these Americans will be upset, but I have got to upset somebody. My own conviction is that she handicapped herself and caused high taxation in her own country by failure to redistribute the Fort Knox gold."

"If you find another gold mine in the world it would assist you—it would be a great advantage—but there is gold which had already been mined and it is doing nothing.

"I am quite sure that is one of the readiest ways to assist in increasing the purchasing power of the devastated areas of the world."

Speaking of the world situation, Bevin said:

"From the Adriatic to Vladivostok, over one-seventh of the globe—I am not criticizing but simply stating a fact—you have almost complete autocracy. You have the United States with a productive capacity that could only be absorbed in the end by a standard of life in the world at least double what it is now. Then we have within this Commonwealth both primary products and resources which have been sadly neglected."

CANNOT GO BACK

Referring indirectly to Tuesday's debate within the congress on direction of labor, Bevin declared "we cannot go back to individual ownership. We are substituting collective ownership in its place. Immediately you get that you have management and direction in order to give full effect to the tools you need. Labor, I think, has to face this fact."

Bevin was frequently interrupted by applause and received a tremendous ovation at the speech's conclusion. Many observers were of the opinion that if the speech had been delivered before Tuesday's discussions on direction of labor, it would have canceled out much of the detailed criticism voiced during the debate. Bevin told the congress Tuesday night that if Britain's workers want to avoid dictatorship they must combat the crisis by accepting drastic measures. (See story "Government Will Get Tough," Page 2.)

$2,000 Fire Damage To Fish Boat

Damage estimated at $2,000 was sustained by the 40-foot fish-boat Pacific King, owned by Capt. Ken Bennett, 657 St. Patrick Street, when fire broke out on board at 3:30 this morning. The craft was moored at the wharf at the foot of Bastion Street.

Victoria fire department officials report that the fire started due to an overheated and flooded oil stove. Considerable damage was done amidships and to the cabin.

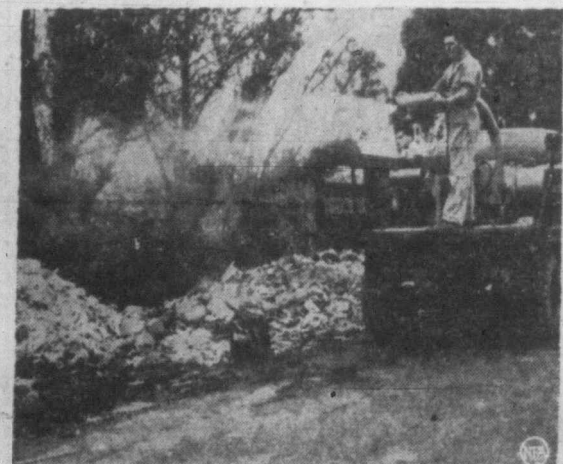

When equipment and firemen arrived in answer to the alarm they were unable to get at the fire immediately as another fish-boat crew had cut it adrift and pushed it out into the harbor to prevent the flames from reaching the wharf and the other craft.

The burning boat drifted and beached at the west end of Johnson Street bridge where the fire was put out. Firemen were on the job for almost three hours.

The only occupant of the boat at the time of the fire was Ivan D. Harrison, Vancouver Street, Nanaimo. He escaped injury. The boat is insured by B.C. Packers.

Epidemic Town Gets DDT Dusting

As a mild epidemic of infantile paralysis attacked Wilmington, Del., truck-transported sprayers dusted the area with DDT. In addition, three aircraft sprayed the entire town. Same measures were taken during the war to kill flies suspected in spread of the disease.

European Crisis Develops Faster Than Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)

—Robert A. Lovett, Under-Secretary of State, said today that the economic crisis in Europe is developing much faster than expected and some kind of action by the United States to meet it apparently will be necessary before the end of the year.

In making the grim picture of the European situation since State Secretary Marshall put forward his self-help recovery plan, Lovett repeatedly refused to say outright that a special session of Congress would be necessary later this year.

But he strongly indicated to a press conference that a special session might be needed.

Lovett said it now is apparent that the deterioration in Europe's condition means that the problem will be upon the United States sooner rather than later.

He said appropriate steps eventually will have to be taken in a matter of months rather than some time next year. Such steps might cover either temporary devices such as extension of financial assistance by the World Bank where possible, or might embrace what he called permanent measures.

By permanent measures he obviously referred to the Marshall plan for extension of U.S. assistance to Europe on a long range self-help basis.

At another point, Lovett said that his personal view is that the United States will have to "take a hard look at the situation" before the end of 1947.

Weir's Condition Reported Serious

Education Minister George Moir Weir was reported to be in a serious condition in hospital in Vancouver today after being stricken during the Labor Day week-end.

While Tuesday night the Canadian Press reported Dr. Weir's condition as being fairly good, it is understood here today that his condition has since deteriorated.

Last year Dr. Weir, 62-year-old Liberal member of the B.C. Legislature for Vancouver-Burrard, was absent from Victoria during a long illness but he returned later in the year and reassumed his duties as head of the educational department of the provincial government.

Izvestia Charges U.S. Wants Arctic

MOSCOW (Reuter)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia alleged today that the United States was seeking to take up the most advantageous military-strategic positions possible in the Arctic "in preparation of fulfillment of a plan for world domination." The article implied Russian concern for Canada's sovereignty.

Mancheno's 9-Day Regime Falls To New Ecuador Counter-Revolt

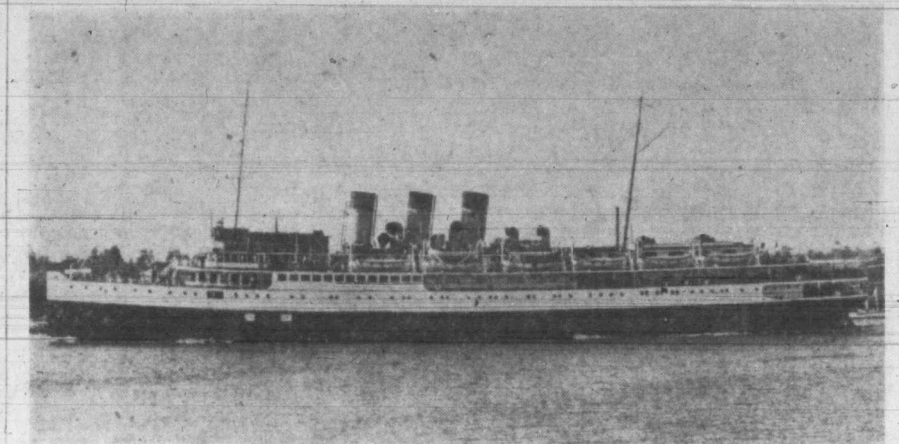

QUITO, Ecuador (AP).—The nine-day-old regime of Col. Carlos Mancheno lay in tattered ruins today and Mariano Suarez Veintimilla, reputed leader of a counter-revolt which caused downfall, assumed temporary power over Ecuador.

Mancheno resigned Tuesday night as counter-revolutionary forces bore down on Quito with out opposition. Diplomatic informants said he had taken asylum in the Venezuelan embassy and intended to leave the country as soon as possible. Other sources said he had simply disappeared.

Mancheno's resignation was followed by an immediate cessation of fire on all fronts and marked the apparently successful conclusion of a counter-revolt which began last Saturday night.

In Riobamba, Suarez Veintimilla, vice-president in the regime ousted by Mancheno, assumed the reins of power, but said he would relinquish his authority to whoever was named by a special session of Congress.

Kathleen Grounded Today But Damage Said To Be Little; Continues Service

Ss. Princess Kathleen.

The C.P.R.'s coastal luxury vessel Princess Kathleen went aground on a rock shoal in the First Narrows of Vancouver harbor early this morning, Capt. O. J. Williams, manager of the B.C. Coast Steamships Service, reported here today.

According to Capt. Williams, the Kathleen left Vancouver Tuesday night, on her regular triangle service, for Seattle. She ran aground in avoiding a small craft, carrying no lights, which was in the Narrows at the time.

The Kathleen, recently refitted, following overseas service as a troop transport, stopped her engines and was carried towards the shore line by the falling tide which eventually stranded her on the rock shoal.

The ship was en route to Seattle on her regular triangle service which carries her from Vancouver to Seattle and then to Victoria.

On the rising tide this morning, the vessel was refloated at about 7. She returned to Vancouver where Seattle-bound passengers were given the opportunity of disembarking and reaching Seattle by boat or train.

Those who did not accept the offer reached here early this afternoon aboard the Kathleen and took the Princess Charlotte, which left here late this afternoon on her triangle run.

According to Capt. Williams, the vessel is believed undamaged. She resumed her regular service by sailing for Vancouver this afternoon, where she will be examined by a diver before sailing late tonight for Seattle on her interrupted service.

Relating the incident which ran his vessel aground, Capt. Martin MacKinnon, master, said he sighted small boats under his port bow and steered to avoid them. The vessel went aground with little list.

Two tugs went to the aid of the ship but could not pull her off until high tide enabled them to refloat her.

There were 60 passengers aboard. Thirty went ashore in Vancouver when the Kathleen put back to port. The others elected to stay aboard and sail to Victoria to transfer to the Charlotte.

More Bodies Discovered In Charred Wreckage Of C.N.R. Train At Dugald

DUGALD, Man. (CP)—More than 30 bodies had been recovered from the fire-blackened debris of a Canadian National Railway's Campers' Special early today as workers resumed their grim task of sorting through the wreckage where late Monday night the westbound holiday special crashed into a standing transcontinental passenger train.

Twenty-seven bodies had been located before the workers took time out for their first rest in 17 hours Tuesday night. This morning two more were recovered shortly after the task of sifting through the ashes of the flame-devastated train was resumed.

Then an undisclosed number of additional bodies, charred and brittle bones mainly, were found. Still uncertain is the exact number of dead, but police officials said that it may easily rise above the early estimate of 35.

OPERATOR HELD

Meanwhile, developments in the disaster to the 13-car train—worst wreck in western Canada's history—which brought a tragic finish to a Labor Day week-end for many of the estimated 700 aboard when it crashed into the standing express, included these:

1. R.C.M.P. announced that Donald F. Ledlie, 55, of Dugald, Canadian National Railway's telegraph operator, was being held on a coroner's warrant as a material witness in the collision.

2. Inquest into the tragedy was adjourned for an indefinite period after jury men had been sworn in at Transcona, 10 miles west of here, where the bodies of most of the victims had been taken.

3. Railway officials issued a statement late Tuesday night listing 27 persons as dead, with 13 others all in good condition, still in hospitals.

4. Identification of the dead bogged down Tuesday night after five of the 27 badly-scattered bodies which had been recovered had been either positively or tentatively identified.

5. Police officials said the death toll could rise substantially once the search through the wreckage had been completed.

6. The acetylene lamps used in the nine wooden coaches of the special train were generally blamed by survivors for the magnitude of the disaster. Had these lamps not been used, they said, the fire which swept through the train immediately following the crash would not have ignited with such lightning-like rapidity.

DETAILS WITHHELD

No details other than the bare announcement concerning the holding of Ledlie were given by police or other officials. Railway officials announced Tuesday, however, that a thorough investigation into the wreck would be held. In Ottawa the Board of Transport Commissioners added that it too would inquire into the disaster.

While the coroner's jury, sworn to duty Tuesday night, was dismissed for an indefinite period after viewing the remains of the victims, the lone undertaking parlor at Transcona was filled with groups of anxious relatives and friends of the missing all evening.

Efforts to identify the dead had meagre results. Only two, Gaye Lewis of Transcona, engineer on the special, and Mrs. Albert Simpson of St. Vital, a Winnipeg suburb, were definitely identified.

Tentative identification of two of Mrs. Simpson's daughters, Winnie and Betty, was also made, while less certain identification was made of Donna Barlow, 17-year-old neighbor of the Simpsons.

While relatives and friends returned to the Transcona morgue again today, hoping that in a second visit they might recognize jewelry as belonging to the missing, work was resumed at Dugald of clearing away the maze of debris covering the tracks by the little red-walled flag station.

Their overnight rest was the first the workmen had had since the collision took place late Monday. Even before they retired last night carloads of spectators thronged the area, anxious to get a first-hand glimpse of the wrecked train.

Twelve R.C.M.P. constables were needed to control the traffic while others were constantly on the alert to prevent the almost 10,000 visitors from pushing their way through the ash-strewn wreckage.

Today the number of visitors was down, only the odd automobile stopping at the small village. Workmen continued sifting through the ashes and police officials said that some of the dead would probably never be discovered, even if the sifting continued for a week, so devastating had been the flames which swept the train.

Recovery Is Slow

F. LaGuardia

NEW YORK (CP)—The condition of Fiorella LaGuardia, former Mayor of New York, was unchanged today, his physician said. LaGuardia, operated on June 18 for a pancreas condition, was described Tuesday as still quite weak and not recovered sufficiently to permit resumption of his radio broadcasts.

Segregation Of Fanatical Sect Thought Likely

NELSON (CP)—A blueprint for the solution of Canada's troublesome Doukhobor problem—which has confronted Dominion and provincial governments for nearly 50 years—is contained in a 12-page report to be submitted to the British Columbia government.

The report is believed to be the first determined move by any government to solve the growing Doukhobor menace since the turn of the century, when a Royal commission investigation was held.

"The Doukhobor situation is a grave and urgent problem that must be solved," Deputy Police Commissioner John Shirras, acc trouble shooter for the B.C. Provincial Police, said today as he left for Victoria with the report. "It is a problem the government must face."

Contents of the report are a closely-guarded secret. However, well-informed sources here believe the document will outline a long-range policy for curbing the activities of the Sons of Freedom group whose depredations have caused a reign of terror.

GAP WIDENS

Failure of earlier attempts to make the strange religious sect conform to Canadian laws and regulations caused a "rift" between Doukhobors. The rift has broadened until today almost open warfare exists between the Orthodox group and the Sons of Freedom, who have openly announced their intention to use the torch in an effort to win recruits to their faith, which they claim embodies the original beliefs and ideals of the sect.

Today the enmity between the two groups is so great that it is believed a long-range policy must contain some form of segregation. Forced dispersal of the Sons of communal life, with an intensive educational program for children in the group may be necessary to break the hereditary bonds binding these simple, industrious people to the past.

Only alternative would appear to be some form of permanent penal colony for the group similar to that established on Piers Island, north of the Saanich Peninsula, in 1932 when 592 Doukhobors were sentenced to imprisonment for staging nude demonstrations.

However, judging from the Piers Island experiment, establishment of a penal colony would not solve the problem, but only delay the final day of reckoning. Whatever the solution, British Columbia will find it expensive, but the cost would be small compared with the millions of dollars already lost in the strife that has seen schools, homes and industrial plants destroyed in the orgy of arson and violence of recent years.

Australian 'Cuts' Just A Beginning; India Also Reduces

CANBERRA (Reuter)—The cuts already announced in Australia dollar expenditure are "only a beginning," a government spokesman said today.

"The whole field of imports in relation to Australian production is under review," the spokesman said. "So far the cabinet has only examined imports from America and Canada."

He said the Australian cabinet would take action on sterling imports as soon as the British Board of Trade furnished details of the sterling imports which she wished to have restricted.

The United States goods already banned included nylon stockings, cosmetics and artificial jewelry, and consideration was being given to a ban on the import of optical lenses, it was authoritatively stated. A 30 per cent cut in Canadian newspaper orders was announced Tuesday night.

ACTION BY INDIA

NEW DELHI (Reuter)—Jewelry, liquor, cigars and cigarettes are among 100 items for which the Indian government will not extend import licenses beyond Sept. 30, it was learned.

The items are those not included under the decision to extend to Dec. 31 import licenses currently valid until Sept. 30. Reason for the import ban is the current dollar shortage.

Visiting Timber Importers Honor War Dead

Tribute to British Columbia's dead of World Wars I and II was paid Tuesday by the 40-man delegation of United Kingdom timber importers when Brian Latham, leader of the delegation, placed a wreath on the cenotaph before the Legislative Buildings here. Attending the ceremony were officials of the provincial government.

Government Will 'Get Tough' To Spur Production, Bevin Declares

SOUTHPORT, Eng. (CP)—Foreign Minister Bevin today again served notice to Britain's 20,000,000 workers that the government would use a "get tough" policy to spur production.

Addressing the Trades Union Congress, the Foreign Minister said Britain's dollar crisis would continue for another two years, during which "we must get production."

"We can't play down to your foibles, to your petty restrictions," he warned. "We must ask the executive (of the T.U.C.) to remove them all."

"I want to go through June of next year with a tremendous increase of coal, of steel and everything."

"For the two years I have been Foreign Secretary I have not had one single vote of credit in the House of Commons to assist in the rehabilitation work for overseas."

"Mr. Churchill said in the war 'Give me the tools and I will win the war.' I say, in peace, 'Give me the tools of production and their full results, and we will change the foreign policy of Europe'."

PROPAGANDA SHOW

Bevin talked more than an hour.

He welcomed the Russian ratification of satellite peace treaties.

He declared again the door was open to Russia to join the Anglo-American economic fusion in Germany. He said the security council of the United Nations had become a propaganda show.

Bevin said he was accused of tying Britain to the United States and protested:

"My God, I am here this morning to appeal to you to fight for our independence in the workshop. Who can accuse me of wanting to be subservient to the east or west?"

Bevin said he had reluctantly supported the $3,750,000,000 loan from the United States because he believed it would "give us until 1949."

"Our calculations were wrong and, if I may make this confession, we are moving behind all the time because we have not the production or the resources to carry it out."

NO GANGING UP

Speaking of forthcoming talks on a peace treaty for Japan, the Foreign Secretary said the Commonwealth conference held in Canberra was not a ganging-up for the negotiations.

"We shall now proceed, soon I hope, to a conference to establish a peace treaty for Japan and to inaugurate a new era in that territory, free from fear and strife."

"A great proportion of the United Nations is doing well," Bevin declared. "The Security Council is the most disappointing part of it all... It has become largely a propaganda show. It is not dealing with the things on the facts. Disagreements are too many. Votes are being used absolutely stupidly. All this antagonism is going on. Will it last? Maybe the peace with Japan will show."

"Greater than the peace conference will be the conference in November of the (four-power) Council of Foreign Ministers... I believe it is almost the last chance—almost the last—of seeing whether we can get the economic unity of Germany and whether we can reconstruct Europe."

PREMIERSHIP RUMORS

LONDON (CP) — Columnist Frank Pictorial, in the Communist Daily Worker, today revived rumors of an impending change in the premiership by saying London financiers were betting that Foreign Secretary Bevin would replace Prime Minister Attlee within two or three months if his speech to the Trade Union Congress at Southport today was "a spectacular triumph."

Pictorial brought up extreme Leftist criticism of Bevin—that his policy is too close to that of the Conservatives—by suggesting he is almost the only Labor government minister "who enjoys the entire confidence of the Tories" and they believe his premiership might "render open coalition with the Tories unnecessary."

Power Boats Sail To Telegraph Bay

A visit to Telegraph Harbor was paid by craft of the Vancouver Island Power Boat Squadron, under the command of Norman R. Hill, during the Labor Day week-end.

At the bay, various games were held by squadron members. The hole-in-the-contest was won by

Harvard President Wants 2-Year Course

Consideration should be given to the awarding of a degree for a two-year university course, according to Dr. James Bryant Conant, president of Harvard University, who has been visiting Victoria.

He did not believe everyone should be expected to go beyond high school for four years and said a scheme of two-year colleges was attracting attention in the U.S. There were some students for whom a two-year course would be best, in Dr. Conant's opinion.

He also pointed out that today the American educator's problem is not that an excess of higher education is being given but that there is a scarcity of the right kind.

He believes that under ideal conditions all who have the ability and desire for a higher education should be able to do so, as is done now with veterans.

Postwar Army Has 14,406 On Payroll

The Canadian Army, Active Force, has now recruited up to 77 per cent of its authorized strength for the current fiscal year. Ottawa authorities disclosed this week. Figures released reveal that as of Aug. 22, 2,243 officers and 12,163 soldiers, or a total of 14,406 all ranks, are on the army's payroll. This compares favorably with the 18,750, or 75 per cent of a proposed army of 25,000 authorized earlier this year.

Montie Porter, and the spud-passing contest was won by W. Orm and his crew. A dinghy parade was also held.

15 Russian Wives Of Britons Must Stay In Homeland

LONDON (Reuter) — The 15 Russian wives of British subjects will remain in Russia and will not be allowed to join their husbands in Britain.

That is the latest ruling given by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vyshinsky on a subject which has concerned the British Foreign Office, as well as the couples. Foreign Minister Bevin intervened on the husbands' behalf, only to be turned down.

Last British appeal was made to Vassili Kuznetsov, president of the Soviet of Nationalities of the Supreme Soviet, when he visited London earlier this year.

A Foreign Office spokesman here said Vyshinsky had given his negative answer in a letter to the British charge d'affaires in Moscow, Frank Roberts.

Vyshinsky, after turning the British request down flat, referred to a matter which has been worrying the Soviet Union. He wants British occupation authorities in Germany and Austria to send home immediately Baltic citizens, including children, on the ground that they rank as Soviet citizens.

Britain maintains that no person not a citizen of the Soviet Union before Sept. 1, 1939, can be compelled to return to present Soviet territory, but any children will be returned to their parents provided details are given by Soviet authorities.

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — Roving bands of marauding dogs are destroying many sheep and poultry in Brantford Township. Sheldon Coulbeck, township reeve, offered $10 to anyone advancing information on the owners of these stray animals.

12 Independent Krestova Douks Told To Join 'Sons' Or Get Out

NELSON (CP) — Twelve independent Doukhobor families living on the Krestova hilltop today were faced with a Sons of Freedom ultimatum to join the "Sons" or get out of the community 25 miles northwest of here.

The three-day ultimatum was issued late Tuesday night accompanied by the peculiar ceremonial rites that precede most important Doukhobor actions.

Lead by the elders of the "Sons," a band of some 50 men, women and children began marching through the dusty, rutted roads winding through Krestova—capital of the fanatical group that has confessed the firing of several orthodox community buildings in recent weeks.

Singing Russian hymns, the band visited the homes of the 12 Krestova residents who are not members of the "Sons." Majority of the "marked" families had lived at Krestova since 1914 and long before the hilltop community was set aside for the Sons of Freedom following their break with the orthodox group.

Each family was called on to join the Sons of Freedom, who said that non-joiners would be ejected from the community at the end of three days. No threats were made to burn the homes of families refusing to accede.

REPRISAL FOR ARRESTS — A spokesman for the "Sons" said his organization was taking the drastic measure because of the arrest of 26 persons during the holiday week-end. Earlier 15 others had been arrested. All are charged in connection with recent arson attacks on Doukhobor settlements.

Mike Torsoff, owner of one of the "marked" homes, said he had lived at Krestova since coming to British Columbia from northern Saskatchewan in 1914. He said he would leave and start up a new home somewhere else "if they force me to."

Meanwhile Deputy Police Commissioner John Shirras put finishing touches to his report on the Doukhobor problem for presentation to the B.C. government. The commissioner made a last-minute change in plans Tuesday and remained here overnight, saying he would leave today for Victoria. No reason was given for the change.

Attlee On India Great Says Bevin

SOUTHPORT, Eng. (CP) — Foreign Secretary Bevin in his speech to the Trades Union Congress here today said he thought the Prime Minister's handling of the Indian question "ranks equal in the development of the British Commonwealth with the great Lord Durham report that brought Canada into existence."

"When I heard in the House of Commons this act of this little man in that quiet little voice making that great pronouncement, I felt that, after all, if Labor had done nothing else but inaugurate a policy that would transfer power and independence to India without a civil war, it would have justified our return to power."

Bevin paralleled Attlee's India speech with Lord Durham's report on the affairs of British North America submitted to the British Parliament Jan. 31, 1839. Lord Durham was Governor-General and Lord High Commissioner in Canada during the troubled period following the Papineau rebellion and his report, laying the groundwork for Confederation, is described by the Encyclopedia Britannica as "one of the greatest state papers in the English language."

Art Francis, chief inspector for the Workmen's Compensation Board, addressed the gathering and officially opened the contests.

A special bus was used to bring four teams and friends from Victoria units of St. John Brigade. The Victoria Ambulance Division No. 65, with J. H. Smith, captain, captured one of the senior men's cups, while the Lorne Drum Transport Division with Mrs. E. Champion, captain, returned with one trophy and scored second-place prizes respectively, in the two senior women events.

In the absence of the president, B.C. Council of St. John, Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons, O.B.E., presented the trophies and prizes to successful teams at the conclusion of the contests. William Fulton, brigade president, of Victoria, assisted as competition director during the afternoon.

Freight Train Crash At Carstairs Kills 1 Man; Another Hurt

CALGARY (CP) — A C.P.R. fireman was killed and a trainman was injured when a south-bound freight train crashed into the rear of another freight train standing at the Carstairs station about midnight Tuesday.

Dead is George Albert Williams, 32, of Calgary, fireman, while in hospital suffering from possible internal injuries and shock is Charles A. P. MacDonald, 28, of Calgary.

The first freight was standing in front of the station at Carstairs, 40 miles north of Calgary on the branch line to Edmonton. It is understood it was loading cattle.

The engine of the second train was turned on its side and 16 box cars on both sides were derailed, many of them being demolished. Most were empty, but some carried crude oil, flour and way freight.

Williams and MacDonald were both on the second train. Williams was in the cab, while MacDonald was riding on the head end of the engine. It was reported they jumped or were thrown out from the impact.

Engineer Martin Burns of Calgary, driving the second engine, managed to get clear of the locomotive before it overturned, and he was not injured.

14 Germans To Die For Slaying Airmen

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — Fourteen of 18 Gestapo men convicted by a British military court of killing 50 Allied air force officers, prisoners of war, were sentenced to death today.

Date for the executions, by hanging, has not yet been set. Of the remainder, two received life imprisonment and two got sentences of 10 years.

The Germans were sentenced for their parts in the slaying of the 50 officers, including six Canadians, on recapture after the March, 1944, outbreak from Stalag Luft III in Silesia.

The slain Canadians, according to German documents, were F.O. Henry Birkland, West Calgary; F.O. Gordon A. Kidder, St. Catharines, Ont.; F.O. George W. Wiley, Windsor, Ont.; F.O. Patrick W. Langford, Victoria, B.C.; F.O. George E. McGill, Toronto; and F.O. James C. Wenham, Winnipeg.

The two-months' trial was the result of a two-years' hunt through Germany to track down the men responsible for the massacre of the Allied officers.

All the accused had pleaded innocent both to two general charges of killing and carrying out orders in violation of the laws and usages of war and to seven charges of shooting particular officers.

With one exception all were Gestapo men and most also were superior officers in the S.S. (Elite Guard).

Altogether 76 Allied air force officers made the mass escape through a tunnel the night of March 24-25, 1944. Three made good their escape, while of the 73 recaptured 50 were shot, 15 were returned to the Sagan camp and eight were detained by the Gestapo.

Britain Took Up Sword Against Nazi Germany 8 Years Ago Today

By Canadian Press — Eight years ago this morning the voice of the late Prime Minister Chamberlain, almost breaking with emotion and intense nervous strain, told the world Britain had gone to war with Germany.

In the quiet of a September Sabbath, his broadcast marked the end of years of appeasement and uneasy peace, and threw the resources of the British Commonwealth "against brute force, bad faith, injustice, oppression and persecution."

Two days previously Germany had attacked Poland. An ultimatum to Hitler to withdraw his forces expired at 11 a.m. Greenwich time and Britain and France immediately declared war. Canada, her Parliament in recess, made her official declaration Oct. 10.

A few hours after Chamberlain had spoken, the King sounded a rallying call to the people to "stand calm, firm and united" against the German challenge to civilized order in the world.

Seated alone in Buckingham Palace, the King addressed this message to every British subject: "If one and all we keep resolutely faithful to it, ready for whatever service or sacrifice it may demand, then in God's name we shall prevail."

Canadians, in the midst of the last holiday week-end of the summer, heard the broadcast with the realization of the grim task before them.

Newspaper offices from Halifax to Victoria, normally deserted Sunday mornings, buzzed with activity as bulletin after bulletin recording each development spewed from Canadian Press teletypes. Many papers published extras. And later that Sunday the war came abruptly home to Canada with news of the sinking of the Ss. Athenia with many Canadians on board.

The conflict that was to end in victory only after nearly six dark years of grim struggle had begun.

Australian Labor Asks 40-Hour Week

MELBOURNE (Reuter) — The Australian Trade Union Congress decided Tuesday to call a 24-hour general strike Oct. 20 unless a 40-hour week is introduced throughout Australia by that date. The arbitration court now is considering its judgment on weekly hours after a hearing which lasted nearly two years.

BEVIN ADMITS IT

THOSE WHO BELIEVE THAT UNDER A Socialist State the workers will gain new security and opportunity, while still retaining the freedoms and the rights they now possess under free enterprise, will get little comfort from the remarks of Rt. Hon. Ernest Bevin in his speech to the British Trade Union Congress. He said plainly: "We cannot go back to individual ownership. We are substituting collective ownership in its place. Immediately you get that you have management and direction in order to give full effects to the tools you need. Labor, I think, has to face this fact."

Labor, we agree, had better face the fact. The coal miners of Grimethorpe faced it the other day and decided they wanted none of it. They went on strike, and 25,000 colliery workers in other pits struck in sympathy. For "management and direction in order to give full effect to the tools," as far as the Yorkshire miners were concerned, meant leaving their homes to be shifted where they might be needed.

Although official statistics show that in Canada this summer, under the much-criticized Capitalistic system, there was "a job for practically everyone seeking work," with 91,000 vacant jobs and 112,000 persons registered with the National Employment Service, the C.C.F. has frequently made much of its ability to provide "full employment" once it could get into office. Nothing would be easier to achieve, even in more stringent times, provided the government had the power and the desire to force workers to leave one section of the country to plug production gaps in another part—to take miners from Nanaimo, for instance, and order them to northern Ontario, or send B.C. fishermen to the foggy banks off Nova Scotia. That is using "management and direction to give full effect to the tools." It is something the free enterprise system would not dare impose on Canadian workers; and it is something Canadian workers would be foolish to impose on themselves.

CRIME, NOT DISCIPLINE

WITH THE HIGHER ETHICS OF THE Doukhobor creed most Canadians will agree. And the right of senior Doukhobors to establish some form of discipline through moral suasion will not be challenged. When, however, any group of people arrogate to themselves the right to carry what they deem to be disciplinary measures beyond the limits of law, they cease to be a purely moral force and become a menace to the peace and good government.

Such appears to be the case in the Kootenays, where arson and terrorism have been the weapons of more fanatical members of the sect. The use of these means in an effort to compel a return to religious beliefs entails the forfeiture of public sympathy and passes beyond the point where perpetrators of crimes can claim justification on the basis of adherence to any specific principles.

Whether they see themselves as vigilantes, or seek to exonerate themselves on the grounds that they are dealing only with their own people, they are breaking the law. And criminals must pay the penalty for their actions. Attorney-General Wismer will be generally supported in his campaign against terrorists and arsonists—whether they call themselves Doukhobors, Sons of Freedom, or anything else.

DANGEROUS CONTROVERSY

CERTAIN ELEMENTS IN WASHINGTON and New York—not necessarily Anglophobe or blindly "America First"—are beginning to regard the present economic condition with which Britain is wrestling as something in the nature of "a crisis of good faith" which may hinder world recovery and not help the American plan to "contain" Communism. This attitude of mind is shared by those in the neighboring Republic who seem quite convinced that Mr. Attlee and several members of his cabinet eventually will be coerced by the extreme Left wing and adopt a neutral stand where Moscow is concerned. Skeptics follow this argument to say they deem its logical conclusion and say flatly that for Britain to expect to profit under the "Marshall Plan" as even a lukewarm supporter of the fight against "Red" ideology would be ridiculous in the extreme—because "Congress would never vote an additional dollar for aid to a Britain that was neutral; no Administration would dare propose it."

It is always easy to build up a hypothetical case to suit an argument with which it is hoped to impress and convince. If and when Great Britain reveals any indication that she is ready to compromise her love of freedom and liberty of action, either positively or by definite implication, it will then be time for publicists in the United States to accuse her of threatening world recovery by condoning the spread of Marxist doctrines. Economic realists on the south side of the 49th parallel, on the other hand, do not appear to be swayed by the fears that are gaining credence in some quarters on Capitol Hill. Nor are they ignoring the tragic faults in American policy between the two wars. To all intents and purposes they are saying that it is easy to complain of Britain indulging in wild nationalization policies instead of pursuing a program of rigid reform; but they also point out that "free trade" may not be half as important as "freedom to trade." Shades of the three sets of exclusionist tariff acts imposed upon our neighbors—and the world's economy under Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover!

But the fear of Britain becoming a neutral in respect of the pernicious infiltration of Communism—of which there is not a scintilla of reliable evidence—will probably suggest to many an impartial mind in the United States that if domestic political expediency in that country in 1940 had abdicated in favor of a recognition of the lessons of history, the condition of the world of today might have been much less complex than it is. None in Britain is complaining that our good neighbors refused to believe that Adolf Hitler was just as much a menace to the American way of life in 1939 as Wilhelm Hohenzollern was in 1914. But there should be no serious objection if some Britons at this late stage are tempted to suggest that if the whole of the English-speaking world, instead of just the British Commonwealth, had presented a united front seven years ago, the present American fear to which we have referred would not have arisen.

MORE TROUBLE IN INDIA

DISPATCHES FROM THE PUNJAB indicate that there has been no lessening in the bloody communal strife that has claimed thousands of Sikh and Muslim lives in the past few weeks. Although some firearms are in the hands of the violent mobs, most of the slaughtering has been done with swords, knives, crude spears and fire. As one correspondent wrote, the figures for wounded are not high, since the wounded are usually caught and killed. There has been no mercy on either side, and each fresh outbreak is the cause for further retaliation.

Although there were instances of rioting and isolated attacks prior to the formal establishment of India and Pakistan as separate Dominions, the drawing of the demarcation line between them in the Punjab region has intensified the outbreaks. Muslims who find themselves on the India side of the border have been the object of attacks by the predominantly Sikh population; while Sikhs and Hindus in Pakistan have suffered from the enmity of the Muslim majority. On either side of the border, terrified refugees are trying to reach the safety of the opposite Dominion, but organized bands of marauders are making escape a gamble.

Farther east, in Bengal, the India-Pakistan border has been marked by no such violent disturbances, which gives hope that the two new Dominions will eventually find it possible to live in peace and mutual tolerance. The present fighting, however, based on age-old religious and racial antipathy, has proved beyond the powers of the Indian and Pakistan civil police to control. There has even been criticism by some of the victims of the strife that Britain removed her military power and left them at the mercy of their foes. There is hope that the excesses of the new freedom may abate before the minority problem has been solved by complete extinction of the helpless groups in each community, and that the memory of the massacres of 1947 will not live to become a future bar to intelligent and peaceful co-operation.

SECURITY, PRESENT AND FUTURE

THE WARTIME DEVICE OF SAVINGS Bonds proved successful in achieving a dual purpose—the provision of immediate funds for the nation's war effort and the accumulation of money for future use by the individual citizen. Such a worthy principle need not be confined to war usages, and the success of the first peacetime issue of Dominion Savings Bonds has encouraged the Department of Finance to announce the distribution of a second series. The bonds will be available Oct. 14 and will carry a rate of two and three-quarters per cent with a 10-year maturity.

Here will be a further opportunity for the working man or woman to lay aside surplus funds on an instalment basis. Not only will there be the satisfaction of providing finances for the business of the people of Canada and the feeling of security that accompanies the growth of a private "nest egg." There will be the further advantage, for those who participate, that they are lending their money at a time when prices are high and the currency slightly depreciated, to be returned to them when in the course of the business cycle it has appreciated in value and will buy them more for each dollar than they can at present purchase.

FOR THE RECORD

DESPITE THE FACT THAT RT. HON. Ernest Bevin has made several personal representations to Russian officials to permit 15 Russian wives of British subjects to join their husbands in Britain, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vyshinsky is reported to have negated the proposal finally.

What the authorities at the Kremlin do, of course, is their business. But this particular incident, when considered with others of wider political significance, should be noted by those "fellow travelers" in this and other countries who still seem to think that the Soviet Union is the promised land.

Our doctor prefers rich patients. When neuropeics get on his nerves, he can insist that they try another climate for six months.

THE COLD WAR: A STUDY OF U.S. FOREIGN POLICY

AN ANONYMOUS article on "The Sources of Soviet Conduct" appeared in the quarterly journal "Foreign Affairs" for July, 1947, and shortly afterward it was republished by "Life" magazine. By its quality alone it would have commanded wide attention. For it was manifestly the work of a man who had observed the Soviet regime closely with a trained eye and an educated mind, and had arrived at a theory as to why the conduct of the Soviet government reflects "no abstract love of peace and stability, no real faith in the possibility of a permanent happy co-existence of the Socialist and capitalist worlds, but rather a continuous, persistent pressure toward the disruption and weakening of all rival influence and rival power."

Almost immediately several of the leading correspondents in Washington identified the author, who signed himself "X," as being Mr. George F. Kennan, who, after a tour of duty at the Embassy in Moscow, had recently been appointed by Secretary Marshall to be the director of the Policy Planning Staff of the Department of State.

THE ATTRIBUTION was not denied. After that Mr. X's article was no longer just one more report on the Soviet regime and what to do about it. It was an event, announcing that the Department of State had made up its mind and was prepared to disclose to the American people, to the world at large, and, of course, also to the Kremlin, the estimates, the calculations and the conclusions on which the department was basing its plans.

My criticism, I hasten to say at once, does not arise from any belief or hope that the American conflict with the Soviet government is imaginary or that it can be avoided, or ignored, or easily disposed of. I agree entirely with Mr. X that the Soviet pressure cannot "be charmed or talked out of existence." I agree entirely that the Soviet power will expand unless it is prevented from expanding because it is confronted with power, primarily American power, that it must respect.

BUT I BELIEVE, and shall argue, that the strategic conception and plan which Mr. X recommends is fundamentally unsound, and that it cannot be made to work, and that the attempt to make it work will cause the United States to squander her substance and her prestige.

We must begin with the disturbing fact, which any one who will re-read the article can verify for himself, that Mr. X's conclusions depend upon the optimistic prediction that the "Soviet power . . . bears within itself the seeds of its own decay, and that the sprouting of these seeds is well advanced"; that if "anything were ever to occur to disrupt the unity and the efficacy of the Party as a political instrument, Soviet Russia might be changed over night (sic) from one of the strongest to one of the weakest and most pliable of national societies"; and "that Soviet society may well (sic) contain deficiencies which will eventually weaken its own total potential."

OF THIS OPTIMISTIC prediction Mr. X himself says it "cannot be proved." And it cannot be disproved. Nevertheless, he concludes that the United States should construct its policy on the assumption that the Soviet power is inherently weak and impermanent, and that this unproved assumption warrants United States entering "with reasonable confidence upon a policy of firm containment, designed to confront the Russians with unalterable counter-force at every point where they show signs of encroaching upon the interests of a peaceful and a stable world."

I do not find much ground for reasonable confidence in a policy which can be successful only if the most optimistic prediction should prove to be true. Surely a sound policy must be addressed to the worst and hardest that may be judged to be probable, and not to the best and easiest that may be possible.

AS A MATTER of fact, Mr. X himself betrays a marked lack of confidence in his own diagnosis. For no sooner had he finished describing the policy of firm containment with unalterable counterforce at every point when the Russians show signs of encroaching, when he felt he must defend his conclusions against the criticism that this is a policy of "holding the line and hoping for the best." His defence is to say that while he is proposing a policy of holding the line and hoping for the best, "in actuality the possibilities for American policy are by no means so limited." The additional possibilities are not, however, within the scope of the authority of the Department of State.

THIS SURELY is a case of bolstering up the wishful thinking of "hoping for the best"—namely, the collapse of the Soviet power—by an extra dose of wishful thinking about the United States. There must be something deeply defective in Mr. X's estimates and calculations. For on his own showing, the policy cannot be made to work unless there are miracles and the United States gets all the breaks.

In Mr. X's estimates there are no reserves for a rainy day. He asks us to assume that the Soviet power is already decaying. He exhorts us to believe that Americans' highest hopes for themselves will soon have been realized. Does the United States dare to assume, as she enters the arena and gets set to run the race, that the Soviet Union will break its leg while the United States grows a pair of wings to speed it on its way? (To be continued.)

The State Of The World

Free Journalism Here And There

THE FOLLOWING excerpts are taken from an open letter published by Mr. Edwin L. James in the New York Times, directed to Mr. David Zaslavsky, of The Pravda, Moscow:

On Aug. 3 this newspaper published, under my signature, an article pointing out the absurdity of the claim of Mr. Molotov of the Russian delegation to the United Nations that real freedom of the press existed in Russia. Under date of Aug. 11 in Pravda, on Page One, you did me the honor of replying to my article.

I think you did a poor job. In my article I wrote, "We have our Constitution and our Bill of Rights. We are not going to throw them overboard to please the Russians." This you translated to read that I had written that our Constitution and Bill of Rights "allow all United States citizens the right of lying and slandering with no threat of punishment." That is rather on the cheap side of Communist propaganda. Surely you could have done better.

WHAT MONOPOLY?

Then you try to make a point in the statement that I knew too well that the International Congress of Journalists adopted a resolution asking that the press be protected against the influence of "capitalistic monopoly."

Let us look at that a moment. What monopoly? There are 10,000 owners of newspapers, daily and weekly. They are of every degree and shade of opinion. Added together, they represent a cross-section of American opinion, expressing all angles of opinion in our free country. Where is the monopoly?

But in your country, sir, all newspapers must toe the line of the Politburo. That is one newspaper control against our 10,000. Who has a monopoly?

THAT JOURNALISTIC FREEDOM

Going back to that Prague journalists' conference. Don't you recall there was another part to that resolution? It said, "There must be free access to news for all journalists." How about that? Or was it just convenient to forget it? You, sir, are free to come to the United States, go where you like, see what you like, and write what you like. Surely you are not going to try to suggest that any such freedom exists in Russia! What is journalistic freedom? If you have got it, then it is the kind of freedom we do not care for.

Let us get it straight. In your country the government controls the press. That government reposes on the foundation of the Communist party, numbering some three per cent of the population. You call that freedom. We do not. Your government controls you and your press. Our Bill of Rights sets forth that our government may not control the press. So it seems to me that when we discuss freedom of the press we are perhaps as far off in our terms as when we can call our government a democracy and you call yours a democracy.

FORCED LABOR

In your article there is this: "We stand for the broadest freedom of the press." All right. I make a suggestion. It is well known that an important factor in the Russian economy is the use of forced labor. You have millions of people working under duress. Since your government keeps it secret there is no public knowledge of how many millions Moscow has toiling under such conditions. There are not only war prisoners (and what has become of the Kwantung army that you seized in the few days you managed to squeeze into the war against Japan) but there are some millions of your own countrymen in re-educational concentration camps. The number has been estimated anywhere from 8,000,000 to 14,000,000.

In that force there is an economic factor and a political factor of large consequence. Many times over statements have been published that there are several times as many people under duress in your "democracy" as there are members of the Communist party. And I have never seen an official denial of those allegations.

REAL EXHIBITION

Now you say you have a free press. Here is a problem of considerable economic and political importance. Why not exercise your freedom as a journalist by giving the world a picture of these concentration camps, where they are located, how many people are in them, why they were sent there and how can they get out? That would be a real exhibition of how free a journalist you are.

If you will write such an article this newspaper will be glad to publish it and I would be willing to apologize for calling you a phony.

Lonely Ships Safeguard The Air Lanes

By IAN COX

THE first of the new "Weather Ships" is now on her station in the north Atlantic, about 300 miles off the west coast of Ireland. This is called Station J for Jig and is one of 13 sea stations that member nations of the International Civil Aviation Organization have agreed shall be occupied by vessels specially equipped for weather reporting and assisting trans-Atlantic aircraft, either by giving them navigational and when in flight or, if necessary, by carrying out rescue work at sea. This project, then, is of considerable interest to anyone concerned with weather forecasting, especially in western Europe.

THIRTEEN STATIONS

The organization has the authority of an international agreement signed in London in October, 1946, and this provided for its coming into full operation in July of this year. Of the thirteen stations, seven are to be operated by the United States (who already have their Coast-guard Service supplying data); two will be operated by Britain and one each by France, Canada (jointly with the United States), Norway and Sweden and Britain jointly, and Holland and Belgium jointly.

Britain's Weather Ships each carry a crew of about 50, including a fully-qualified meteorological staff of seven and 13 radio and radar technicians. Every three hours surface observations of pressure, temperature, humidity, weather, visibility, clouds, the state of the sea and of swell will be made. Every six hours radio-sonde balloons will be released, and the radio signals automatically transmitted by this equipment to report the pressure, temperature and humidity of the upper atmosphere up to a height of 60,000 feet will be recorded. The drift of the balloons will also be followed by means of radar and then readings of the winds at various heights in the atmosphere will be obtained. Distant thunderstorms will be located by radio direction finders.

USED BY AIRCRAFT

All such observations, as well as reports of any sudden changes in the weather, will be radioed back to base from British ships for transmission to the Central Forecasting Office at Dunstable and this office will include them in its collective synoptic passages which are broadcast at regular intervals for reception by stations interested. The primary use of the short-term weather information these sea stations will produce is for aircraft crossing the north Atlantic. An increase in headwind results in increased petrol consumption, so it is clearly advantageous for a pilot to know the force and direction of the wind to be expected if only because to carry extra petrol he has to reduce his pay load. Accurate information in this respect is of particular importance to pilots making the flight from east to west because the prevailing wind over the north Atlantic is in the opposite direction.

COMPLETE COVERAGE

The positions allocated to the reporting ships have been worked out to lie as far as possible on the most-used air routes, with slight deviations to achieve approximately equal spacing between the stations, and hence more complete coverage of the area as a whole. There are, for example, exceptions made in the case of the positions called A (which lies between Greenland and Iceland) and M (between Iceland and the north of Norway) because it is from such areas that most of western Europe's bad weather comes and the sooner we know about it the better.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

ANXIOUS seekers after a remedy to restore peace to our stricken world may find that, after all, there still is healing balm in Gilead.

Support for the belief that another world war may be averted comes to us simultaneously from two distinguished sources: President Truman and former President Hoover. Truman, addressing the Inter-American defence conference at Quitandinha, Brazil, yesterday, declared:

"We do not believe that present international differences will have to be resolved by armed conflict."

The American Magazine publishes an article by Sidney Shallett in which the writer reports Hoover in an interview said he didn't feel that either Communist world domination or another world war is inevitable. Shallett added that the former president holds the opinion that economic weapons of the United States will prevail in the end despite a "whole series of Communist revolutions now under way."

EXAGGERATED

And James F. O'Neill, new commander of the American Legion, declared yesterday in New York that while the danger of war can't be overlooked, "the talk of war is exaggerated"—that "there is too much talk of war and not enough talk of peace."

Well, let's talk of peace. What stands in the way of it? The clear answer to that is the great differences between the Russian bloc and the western democracies. Those differences are based on Communistic aggression—on the threat of the Red world-revolution which finally is in full swing. Economic crises—some of them involving stark hunger—are plowing many countries of Europe and Asia for the sowing of discord, and are forcing millions to grasp at any straw of hope, or to surrender to forces which they cannot combat.

FEAR AND UNCERTAINTY

Truman declared the postwar era "has brought us bitter disappointment and deep concern," and added: "We find that a number of nations are still subjected to a type of foreign domination which we fought to overcome. Many of the remaining peoples of Europe and Asia live under the shadow of armed aggression." The President said European economic recovery has lagged because of "political fear and uncertainty in addition to the devastation caused by war."

What can dissipate these obstacles to peace? Perhaps an answer is to be found in President Truman's assertion that the United States is determined to remain strong to back up a foreign policy based on a desire for permanent peace. Certainly weakness encourages aggression.

Another vastly important aid to peace will be the economic rehabilitation of Europe. Prosperity will provide the strength to withstand political or military aggression. The Marshall plan is calculated to take care of that. America will help the stricken countries rehabilitate themselves, though, as President Truman pointedly mentioned, our resources are not unlimited.

THE DAWDLER

Ottawa Journal
Streets and roads are for the safe use of all the people, and the dawdler is a menace when he blocks cars which want to travel at "normal and reasonable" speed. Drivers of this sort ought to have more attention from the police.

THE BAGPIPE MENACE

Ottawa Citizen
It is not surprising that a group who probably claim to be the descendants of hardy Scots, should inflict one of the rare defeats suffered by Mr. James Pettilio, Musicians' Union czar. This has been done by the members of an all-girl Highland bagpipe band of the University of Iowa, on a technical ground which few non-Scots will question—that the bagpipe is not a musical instrument, but an "instrument of war."

TACTICS AND STRATEGY

"What is the meaning of strategy and tactics of the proletarian class struggle? Strategy means the unchangingly fixed plan of the class war, with the final goal of destruction of the capitalist coercive state, the establishment of the dictatorship of the proletariat, socialism and a classless society. The tactics consist of the various operations, battles and skirmishes which are necessary to reach the strategic goal. In tactics there are not always advances; frequently retreats, zig-zags, and marking time are necessary." Instructions issued to the German Communist leaders; published in the New Leader.

Plan $50,000 Improvement To Saanich Municipal Hall

Saanich Council at its meeting last night took another step in the direction of having the Municipal Hall at Royal Oak enlarged—and modernized en route—to overcome the acute overcrowded conditions for the staff and departments in the present structure.

Municipal Clerk John Tribe, by a majority vote, was authorized to prepare a by-law to be presented to the ratepayers at the next annual election calling for an expenditure of approximately $50,000 for carrying out the renovation plan as presented in blueprint form by F. S. Green, municipal assessor.

Mr. Green pointed out that while the plans for the hall extension had been ready for presentation since last March, they had been shelved owing to other pressing matters up before the council. At that time he noted the estimated cost of the undertaking was placed at $47,000.

"In presenting this detailed plan," Mr. Green said, "I must impress upon you that the time has come when we must make more room for staff and various departments." He went on to describe some of the acute problems that have arisen to bring about cramped conditions that hinder the efficient operation of the municipal hall.

The scheme is to extend the building 61 feet to the south. The present cone-shaped roof would come off and the building would be squarish, the entrance centering the structure and facing as now on West Saanich Road. The present level would be maintained, he said, and went on to describe where the various offices and departments would be located on the ground and upper floors.

Reeve E. C. Warren suggested that one way to get the money was to secure a $50,000 loan over a 10-year pay-back basis.

PASSMORE VOTES 'NO'

Councillor Leslie Passmore frankly admitted he realized the present structure was inadequate but voted against such a by-law being presented to the people at the present time.

He referred to the heavier taxation load the ratepayers would have to shoulder with the increased school appropriation next year, the new sewerage plan and other matters "and I believe that if you keep on piling on the expenditures the people are going to throw the whole works out of the window when they go to the polls."

Councillor Passmore's was the only negative vote to the motion. He said that people were even now "madder than hatters" over high taxation.

In the opinion of Councillor Len Hobbs "crowded conditions are not conducive to good work... we are growing and will need lots more room as we grow."

The reeve also noted the growth of the administration element of the municipality and in adding his vote that the matter be put to the voters, pointed out "we have got to meet the situation, provide for contingencies as we see them... or are we just going to go along until we stub our toes and have to put up temporary structures apart from the building to handle the situation?" He noted the provincial government had encountered the same trouble and was forced to meet the situation with annexes. Speaking of coming needs for even more room than now, he indicated that for one thing the sewerage scheme would require three additional personnel in the hall.

The Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of R. P. Besant will resume weekly rehearsals in St. John's Church auditorium, Quadra Street, on Friday at 8. Victoria's only amateur orchestra enters its second season with keen anticipation, and has many interesting new works for rehearsal. Additional players of viola and double bass would be welcomed.

City Leads In Week's Building

The city headed the weekly building figures for Greater Victoria with 36 permits being issued for $77,875. These included one duplex, one alteration for Canada Trust Co., $15,000, and a $40,000 club-room for the naval veterans' branch of the Canadian Legion.

In Saanich 23 permits were issued for $49,120, including 10 dwellings valued at $40,000.

In Oak Bay three permits were issued for $2,300, and in Esquimalt four permits were issued for $19,000.

These included permits for dwellings at 660 Grenville, $3,600; on Armit Road, $5,000; at 667 Lampson Street, $5,500, and at 475 Constance Avenue, $5,000.

47,000 Canadians Married Overseas

In almost every corner of the globe during World War II the popularity of the Canadian serviceman as a husband is illustrated in Ottawa figures released this week—eight years since Canada officially declared war—showing that 47,000 of them were married while overseas.

Foil Man Who Tried To Pull 'Fast One' On Saanich Council

One man who tried to beat the Saanich water restrictions by-law recently was tripped up, Reeve E. C. Warren disclosed at the meeting of the council Tuesday night.

The reeve said that after the man's application for a water connection had been granted, investigation disclosed he had three lots adjoining each other "and was trying to pull a 'fast one' so that he would be able to water his property any day of the week."

On one street where two lots bordered on the south he had two water connections to his property and he was trying to get a third connection into another lot facing the north side of the street directly behind. As the water regulations provide for water on the south side one day and the north side the next, if the new connection had been established the man could have safely watered his property on any day, using alternate pipe lines.

"I quickly had the matter held up," said Reeve Warren, and the council promptly voted that its previous motion approving the project be rescinded.

Water restrictions are imposed in Saanich to spread the supply around throughout the municipality during the dry months.

Mayor Demands Action On Rat, Fire, Fuel Dump Menace

In demanding action to have enforceable by-laws with teeth to control wood dumps in the city Mayor Percy George told Tuesday's City Council meeting that he did not intend to sit idly by and just listen to complaints about which he could do nothing any longer.

He suggested that a special committee be set up to include the fire chief, city building inspector, city sanitary inspector, and city solicitor, to check present by-laws and suggest changes which will bring about the complete abolition of the present nuisance.

The worst district, he stated was in the area bounded by Douglas Street on the west and Market Street to the south. He pointed out in his communication to the City Council that the wood debris sometimes reached a depth of two to four feet, and a fire in this material would be virtually impossible to control.

Ald. H. M. Diggon felt that the matter should be left in the hands of an aldermanic committee, pointing out that the fire wardens had, at the last meeting of council suggested no further licenses for wood lots be granted until the by-laws had been tightened up. He suggested that the various city officials be asked to report to an aldermanic committee instead of being set up as a separate committee.

Mayor George replied that he was looking at the matter largely from the health standpoint and the old dumps were host to countless rats and other vermin. "How long am I to sit by as mayor and see these things going on?" he demanded. "I don't intend to continue receiving complaints and when I ask officials to do something he told, the by-laws have not enough teeth in them to be effective."

He said he had received some complaints as early as the spring of 1945 and that was too long a period for the condition to prevail, regardless of how many aldermen took umbrage at his efforts to get action.

Ald. Diggon quickly denied he was taking umbrage at the mayor's remarks, stating he only wished to avoid duplication of effort.

The council concurred in the mayor's suggestion of the special committee.

Council Rules Out Two Traffic Islands After Long Debate

Nearly two and a half hours' argument at Tuesday's City Council meeting, including an inspection by the entire council of the street corner in question, resulted in the elimination of two of the "islands" in the middle of the new section of Blanshard Street between Cormorant Street and Pandora Avenue.

Ald. Edward Williams raised the question on a point of privilege, because he felt the division of the 110-foot wide road into three traffic lanes by the use of the "islands" would create a traffic hazard. He wanted all three of the islands south of Cormorant Street eliminated.

Cyril Jones, assistant city engineer, who did much of the drafting of the plan supported by the public works committee, claimed the "islands" would aid the flow of traffic by directing it into its own channels.

Ald. R. A. C. Dewar suggested the compromise plan which was eventually adopted and which satisfied none of the traffic experts called in by the City Council. It leaves the most northerly "island" between Cormorant and Mason Streets and eliminates the two at the wide mouth of Blanshard Street where it goes into Pandora Avenue.

VISIT SCENE

After a full hour's argument the council agreed to call in Fire Chief Joseph Raymond, Police Chief J. A. McClellan, and R. H. Halls, B.C. Electric traffic superintendent, and visit the street corner. They recessed for half an hour.

Following the recess Mr. Halls informed the council that so far as bus traffic was concerned the B.C.E.R. did not care whether the "islands" were there or not because it was doubtful if that road would be used for out-bound traffic.

Chief of Police McClellan supported the "islands" as a protection for pedestrians. He contended the 110-foot crossing was too wide for pedestrians, even with use of traffic lights, unless there was a safety "island" or two for their protection en route. Fire Chief Raymond sided with Ald. Williams because he felt the wide, unbroken street would make it easier for fire engines to maneuver through traffic.

Ald. Williams suggested the experiment of leaving the "islands" out be tried, and if this proved unsuccessful, put them in later. Mr. Jones immediately countered this would be more expensive than putting the "islands" in now, and taking them out later if the council so desired.

Both Mayor George and Ald. F. N. Cabellu expressed worry about the fate of the pedestrians should the "islands" be entirely eliminated, but both voted in favor of wiping out the two most southerly.

On the vote, those who supported elimination of the two "islands" were Ald. Williams, Ald. E. J. Gadsden, Ald. D. D. McTavish, Ald. Margaret D.

School Children Mob Book Counters

Scene at any city school supply centre as students flock to the stores to replenish classroom supplies.

As school classes were dismissed shortly after they convened Tuesday, the opening day of school, children and parents thronged into town to harass bookstore clerks in an effort to get classroom supplies.

J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of schools, said that indications were that attendance in elementary schools would show a marked increase but he would have no definite figures until the latter part of the month.

Battle Looms Over Veterinary Hospital On Kingston St.

After more than an hour's discussion and cross-fire on the advisability of permitting a veterinary hospital to be established at 338 Kingston Street for a period not exceeding a year, Tuesday's City Council meeting referred the whole question to the health committee for report at the next meeting.

Dr. Roy E. Cranston, the veterinary surgeon who proposes to operate the hospital, appeared with his solicitor, Gordon Cameron, to ask permission to locate the hospital at Kingston Street until he can get a permanent building erected on Douglas Street. Dr. Cranston stressed that the lots are properly zoned for light industry, which permit a small animals hospital, but work on the conversion of a former bakery to the hospital had been halted by order of Mayor Percy George and a building permit refused.

MAY SEEK MANDAMUS

Mr. Cameron stated if the council continued to hold up the work he would apply for a mandamus to force granting of the necessary building permit. Dr. Cranston offered to give a written undertaking that he would vacate the premises as soon as his new building could be completed. He also insisted that the dogs would be properly supervised so as to cause as little noise as possible and guaranteed there would be no noxious odors. Citizens of the area have petitioned for rezoning of the property in question to prohibit the building of the hospital, and Ald. J. D. Hunter and Ald. Margaret D. Christie, both members of the health committee, expressed strong opposition to allowing any animal hospital near a residential area.

City Solicitor A. J. Patton told the council it had no authority to withhold the building permit and Ald. R. A. C. Dewar pointed out that no rezoning could be done without the request of the property owner.

Automotive Workers Ask Board To Fix Wage Minimums

The minimum wage setting board of Industrial Relations today has before it a brief submitted by the Automotive Maintenance Workers' Union (A.F.L.) asking that minimum wage schedules be set up for persons employed in selling, servicing and repairing automobiles.

"For many years prior to the war workers in all phases of the trade were exploited, mainly due to lack of any type of workers' or employers' organization that would have had a tendency to stabilize conditions in the automobile business," said the brief, submitted over the signature of George A. Wilkinson, business agent. "From this lack of organization arose many evils, among which one of the most deplorable was the lack of uniform regulations."

The condition was greatly exaggerated by the highly competitive nature of the business and as keener competition became more evident, it is safe to assume that without some measure of control the deplorable prewar conditions will return.

The brief suggested the following minimum wage schedule:

1. Salesmen engaged in the retailing of new and used automotive vehicles: 75 cents per hour with a guarantee of $30 per week.
2. Parts salesmen: 75 cents per hour with guarantee of $30 per week.
3. Service station attendants: 75 cents per hour.
4. Lubrication men: 90 cents per hour.
5. Mechanics' helpers: 75 cents per hour with guarantee of $30 weekly.
6. Journeymen mechanics: $1 per hour with weekly guarantee of $40.

J. P. Hogg Elected By Law Commission

J. Pittairn Hogg of Victoria, legislative council for the B.C. government, has been elected vice-president of the conference of commissioners on uniformity of legislation held in connection with the 29th annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association in Ottawa.

The Canadian Press reported from Ottawa that W. P. J. O'Meara, assistant Under-Secretary of State, had been re-elected president.

A model draft act on conditional sales, aimed at bringing harmony to laws throughout Canada respecting sale and purchase of merchandise on conditional sale agreements, was adopted by the conference and will be recommended to provincial legislatures for enactment. Special provisions were recommended concerning the purchase and sale on extended payment basis of such commodities as electric refrigerators, radios, automobiles and other goods.

No more parking meters will be installed in Victoria streets at the present time, except to fill in gaps on present streets it was decided at Tuesday's meeting on a motion from Ald. Edward Williams.

Blanshard Street was specifically excluded from any future metering, as well as the area east of Blanshard Street.

Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, reported that on further consideration the committee had decided to drop its recommendation, made at the last meeting that approximately 400 more meters be installed.

Ald. Williams commented that the motoring public appears well contented with the present parking meters but there was no purpose in fanning out any further at present.

Fireplace Setting For Nuptial Rites

Masses of pink gladioli and zinnias banked the fireplace and pink carnations, sweet peas and roses were attractively arranged throughout the living-room at the home of Mrs. V. L. Kirchner, 1219 Richardson, on the occasion of the marriage of her daughter, Winifred Joy, to Gordon William Stamford.

Rev. Wilfred L. McKay performed the marriage ritual early Monday afternoon. T. R. Myers played the wedding music. Ralph H. Wilson, close friend of the bride, gave her in marriage. A three-strand pearl necklace added a note of importance to the bride's suit of turquoise blue designed on dress-maker lines. She wore her groom's gift of chipped diamond earrings. Her accessories were winter white and brown, and the corsage bouquet of gardenia and red roses.

Mrs. E. G. R. Hartman, attending the bride, chose crisp white accessories with her dressmaker suit of old rose, and matching hat. Pink and mauve gladioli were combined with pink rosebuds in her corsage bouquet.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Stamford, 41 Wellington Avenue, chose as best man Rudy Hartman. Following the ceremony, guests were received by the couple and their mothers. Frederick E. Harris gave the toast to his niece. Silver candelabra holding lighted pink candles, flanked the three-tier cake, centred on the bride's table, covered with an ecru lace cloth. Mrs. David Taylor and Mrs. George Booth presided at the urns.

For the wedding trip to Banff, the bride donned a winter white topcoat over her wedding suit. Mr. and Mrs. Stamford will return to the city to make their home.

Navy Assistance On Esquimalt Fires

Full co-operation from the navy fire department in the event of serious fires in Esquimalt provided the calls come through the proper authorities, was promised the municipality by Rear-Admiral E. Rollo Mainy, C.O.P.C., Councillor A. C. Wurtele, reported to council meeting Tuesday night.

"Admiral Mainy said the navy would be happy to co-operate, but stressed the fact that residents of Esquimalt cannot telephone the naval fire department directly," Councillor Wurtele told council. "The navy cannot answer such calls."

"The difficulty in the past is that people have even called in the case of a grass fire."

If a call comes through the police and they feel the navy fire department is needed, the navy department will be "only too happy to respond," Councillor Wurtele said.

A letter from the Union of B.C. Municipalities on the question of an over-all application by all municipalities, of the business tax, was laid on the table, until councillors had more time to study the question, upon suggestion of Reeve Bert Thomas, who said the matter was an important one.

Invitation to send a representative to the B.C. Aviation Council Conference at Harrison Hot Springs, Sept. 18 and 19, was declined on the grounds that Esquimalt would not be considered on any airport issues.

Back Student Patrols

Esquimalt Council unanimously agreed to an amendment to the Streets and Traffic Regulation By-law at their meeting Tuesday night, in order to allow for institution of schoolboy patrols this fall in the municipality.

Benjamin Caley, Esquimalt representative on the Greater Victoria School Board, outlined the plan and purpose of schoolboy patrols and told of their success at different schools in Victoria last school term.

"The city had five school patrol units last year and plan to cover the entire city this year," he said.

Councillors and the reeve expressed their approval of the patrols.

With their commanding officer, R.C.A.F. crew members of the air force high speed launch Takult sit on the deck of their vessel aboard which they started Tuesday on Operation Porpoise which will take them from Patricia Bay to the air force base at Dartmouth, Nova Scotia. Members of the crew are: Sqdn. Ldr. S. C. N. Burridge, commanding officer, of Ottawa; F. T. Manderson, Vancouver; H. E. Bennett, Vancouver; P. R. Fleming, Halifax; D. Fullerton, Victoria; E. R. Gaudet, Halifax; E. F. Swinamer, Lunenburg, N.S.; F. G. MacIntyre, Vancouver, and E. H. Jerrett, Halifax. The trip by sea will take 40 days to complete.

Esquimalt Council Has Budget 'Blues' But Buys New Tractor

Some plain and some fancy talk on the state of Esquimalt's budget took place at the regular bi-monthly council meeting in the Municipal Hall, Tuesday night.

There was the question of the new tractor, which they decided to purchase, the complete overhauling of Bullen Park playing field, which they referred to the parks and public works committee to solve, and the request for a grant from the Victoria Musical Art Society, which they agreed to refuse, on the grounds that there were no funds available at the moment.

$1,300 DIFFERENCE

"Such a machine, by the work it can do would more than repay us," Councillor G. R. Guillemaud told council in discussing the trading of the municipality's present No. 70 tractor for the larger one, No. 80, at a difference in cost of $1,300.

"We could do the roadwork that now has to be let out on contract. We can get our full purchase price on our machine and get the larger No. 80 tractor for a difference of $1,300."

Reeve Bert Thomas told council he would favor retrenchment in other quarters in order to purchase the machine.

'NIP AND TUCK'

"It is nip and tuck right now with our finances and we must consider purchases carefully," said Councillor Alex Speirs, who guards the municipal purse strings as chairman of the finance committee.

At the conclusion of the discussion, however, Councillor Speirs said he favored purchase since the expense of constant repairs to the present tractor which must carry too much work for its size, would be just as great as the difference in price on the new one.

Reeve Thomas cautioned that careful consideration should be given on the question of expenditure on the overhauling of Bullen Park playing field after Councillor G. V. Bishop urged council to "make an issue of it."

"It's all right to say we are going to spend $2,000, or $3,000 on the field but there are other things that must be considered also," said Reeve Thomas.

"I think we should make a job of it," said Councillor Bishop. "Either tell the public we can't make a job of it, or make one of it."

COST OF $2,000

Discussing the $2,000 estimated cost of seed and sowing of the field, reported by E. Fulcher, superintendent of works, Councillor Guillemaud said he wondered if it would be advisable to do the work in the fall.

"A hard winter and you could lose grass that had grown an inch and a half," he said.

Little Support For Lagoon Park Idea

Little support was given a recommendation from Councillor G. V. Bishop at Esquimalt Council meeting Tuesday night, that council ask G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., to try to obtain for the municipality, the privilege and use of the spit at Esquimalt Lagoon for a park and playground.

"I think you will find that the property you mention is privately owned and that whenever the navy is through with it, the owner will get first option on its return," Councillor Alex Speirs said.

Councillor G. R. Guillemaud commented: "I don't think we are in a position to ask for it: it hasn't anything to do with Esquimalt." Reeve Bert Thomas referred to the navy's use of the area.

"It's asking too much," he said. "We have several irons in the fire and we don't want the federal government to think we are asking for too much."

He enumerated various matters on which Esquimalt was contacting the Dominion government and said: "We are up to our neck in these other problems."

Hollywood Stars Accept New Style Of Longer Skirts

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tough luck, girls! You might as well start ripping out that hemline, because Hollywood's famous women are tumbling for the much-vaunted long skirts.

Film stars have long led the pack when it comes to establishing new fashions. Let Gloria Giamor appear on the screen with a rose in her hair, and millions of housewives will show up at breakfast that way.

Though it wasn't the idea of film stars to lower skirts (legs being an important commodity here), the girls are apparently following the dictates of the style experts. Here are the answers I got from my query, "What do you think of the new long skirts?"

Irene Dunne: We'll all be wearing them soon. Fashion arbiters are the most arbitrary and determined people in the world. Look at the family album for proof.

Betty Hutton: I like them. Men have had the privilege of ogling for too long a time; now let them use their imagination.

Susan Hayward: They are a boon to American womanhood. They make it easier to get in and out of a car without showing the upper leg.

Ann Southern: I'm all for them. They make short girls look better.

Dorothy Lamour: Why should women follow every whim of fashion? Long skirts are one of the silliest. Why should a girl cover up pretty legs and discard a whole wardrobe?

Loretta Young: I'm in favor of lowering, but not to the ankle. That makes skirts look shrouded.

Final word on this momentous matter comes from Bob Hope. Says he:

"Women are never satisfied. Now that they can get nylons, they want to cover them up."

CAPITOL THEATRE

All the color and spectacle of Mexico form a brilliant background for the thrilling story of a girl who saves her brother's honor by taking his place in the bull ring in "Fiesta," extravagant M-G-M technicolor musical, now at the Capitol Theatre.

This is the picture which was filmed largely in Mexico, with Esther Williams giving a breath-taking performance in the role of a feminine matador.

PLAZA THEATRE

Unlike many important stars, when Claudette Colbert had a 9 a.m. call on her newest picture, Universal-International's "The Egg and I," now at the Plaza Theatre, she was on the set ready for work. Claudette's hairdresser did her coiffure at her home each morning and there was no complicated make-up problem because she always applied her own.

Epileptic Improves After Faith Healing

MADERA, Calif. (AP) — The Arakelian family announced Tuesday the treatment of Avak Hagoopian, Armenian faith healer, have brought "marked improvement" to their epileptic son and brother, Vaughn.

At the same time, they said Avak would perform his healing services at several Fresno churches.

Krikor Arakelian, multi-millionaire vintner, owns a ranch at Madera which has been the site of Avak's treatments for the past three months.

Completion Of Towers, 2 Bays, Chapel, Now Proposed In Cathedral Plans

New plans by the celebrated architectural firm of Cram and Ferguson, have been accepted for the completion of the East End of Christ Church Cathedral, and it is estimated that a sum of approximately $400,000 will be required before building operations are begun.

The plans include completion of two towers, both of which have reached a certain stage of construction, a chapel and two additional bays, also the formation of a new choir and a stately sanctuary.

The architects have made suggestions for the building of Cloisters, which it is hoped may be added some time after the Cathedral itself is finished. The new plans are in complete harmony with the work of the late J. C. M. Keith, who planned the building as it is at the present time.

It is proposed to continue Mr. Keith's plans for the completion of the West End, including the two great towers. A peal of eight bells, a replica of those of Westminster Abbey, is already installed in the Northwest tower and it is hoped to finish this tower at an early date, as a protection to the bells and to enhance their carrying capacity.

The idea of building a great central tower as planned by Mr.

Keith, has been abandoned. Such has been the case in a number of famous English churches, notably at Westminster Abbey and Winchester Cathedral.

A thorough survey of the existing building was made by Cram and Ferguson last year, and the new plans have been adopted, not only on their recommendation, but as a result of the experience of recent years. Cram and Ferguson are the architects for the famous Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York, one of the largest churches in the world.

Birley, Wade and Stockhill are the local architects associated with Cram and Ferguson.

Fred Ranson Paces Legion To Boxla Win

Canadian Legion will meet Foul Bay in the final round of the local box lacrosse playoff. This was decided last night as the Vets, playing a sound defensive game, handed J.B.A.A. an 11 to 5 lacing in the fifth game of what was originally scheduled as a best two-out-of-three series.

The large crowd on hand at the box had little to cheer about after the first quarter of the deciding contest as Legion took complete command of the game to knock over the Bays, still short-handed from the bruising struggles that marked the first four games.

RANSON STARS

Fred Ranson was the star of the Veterans' attack last night, the speedy centre ace counting four goals and assisting on one other to walk off with high point honors.

Ernie Ball, improving with every out, and diminutive Red Mason were two of the coolest players on the floor and each contributed two goals to their squad's total.

Bays showed to their best advantage in the first and second quarters, holding Legion to a 2 to 2 score in the initial period and being down one goal at 4 to 3 at the half.

With the start of the second half the Legion attack, that had been held dormant since the play-offs started, began to function as a well-oiled unit and the defending champions poured five goals past Bob Aitken without a reply to take a 9 to 3 lead.

The final quarter was rather listless with Legion content to rest on their laurels and Bays trying hard but getting nowhere fast.

Each team scored two goals in this frame with Ranson netting both markers for Legion.

Teams and scorers follow: J.B.A.A.—Aitken, Sargent, Anderson, Winter, I. Coates, Bamford, 2, Carney, Cummings, O'Connell, 1, Reid, 1.

Legion—Long, T. McKeachie, Ranson, 4, Andrews, Ball, 2, McKim, J. McKeachie, 1, Mair, Mason, 2, Baker, 1, Popham, 1, Lott.

SOCCER MEETING

Oak Bay senior and intermediate soccer clubs will hold an organization meeting at Windsor Park clubhouse tonight at 7.30. Last year's players and any others interested are asked to attend.

Los Angeles Bare Half Game Atop Coast Ball Loop

The first division free-for-all in the Coast League left the leading Los Angeles Angels with only a precarious half-game margin today.

San Francisco's Seals are tramping on the heels of the Angels who have held the top rung on the league ladder since June 21. Another result of last night's firing was that Oakland hopped over Portland into third place, the Oaks and Beavers being three and four games back, respectively.

It was Vern Kennedy, the one-time Chicago White Sox ace pitcher, and his seventh place San Diego Padre mates who fashioned a 3 to 1 win over the Angels to shave their loop edge. Kennedy gave Los Angeles only four hits and struck out eight, while the Padres rapped out 10 hits off Bob McCall.

San Francisco led off in their Sacramento series with their top hurler, Bob Chesnes, and he set the Solons down with seven hits for a 7 to 3 victory.

Oakland's Gene Bearden limited Portland to seven hits as the Oaks tallied 10 for a 3 to 1 win which broke their third-place tie.

Seattle trimmed Hollywood, 6 to 5, breaking the teams' tie for fifth in the standings, the Rainiers taking fifth and the Stars, sixth.

Rainiers Recall Vancouver Players

SEATTLE (AP)—Seattle's Pacific Coast League baseball club management announced Tuesday night that it is recalling 11 players who were optioned this year to leagues of lower classification.

Seven of the players are with Vancouver in the Western International League. They will report to the Rainiers next Tuesday, after the W.I.L. season ends. The others will not report until next spring.

The seven recalled from Vancouver are pitchers Bob Hall, Bob Snyder, Harold Saltzman; catcher Bob Stump; infielder Leon Mohr; outfielders Paul Carpenter and Frank Mullens.

George Paris, Fight Character, Passes

VANCOUVER (CP)—A friend of boxing greats, George Paris, 79-year-old negro pugilist, and for years a trainer of police athletes here, is dead.

He died in hospital over the week-end after a colorful career, including training jobs with Jack Johnson, the heavyweight king, with whom he toured France in 1911.

In 1908, Paris fought and out-pointed Victor McLaglen, the movie actor, then a pugilist. He was born in Truro, N.S., and first came to British Columbia in 1900.

Esquimalt Meat Seek Western Series Here

The controversy raging over the western Canada softball finals between Esquimalt Meat Market, B.C. champions, and the prairie winners, which have been scheduled to be played in Vancouver next week, much to the chagrin of the Victoria team, was partially cleared up this morning in a meeting between Jim Lackie, Esquimalt manager, and Wally Yeamans, president of the B.C. Softball Association.

Yeamans stated that the Victoria squad could make arrangements to stage the games in the city by contacting Norm Sprague of New Westminster. Sprague is the western official in charge of the playoffs in this area and his consent is necessary for the change.

Jim Lackie, manager of the squad, announced that he would be willing to post a guarantee for the prairie squad to come here and also would post up to $100 for advertising costs entailed in Vancouver.

The series would have to be played in a closed park. In this regard it will be noted that Athletic Park is being used for professional baseball the nights of Sept. 12 and 13, two of the scheduled dates of the finals. Athletic Park is open Sept. 9, 10 and 11, the starting dates of the series. Macdonald Park is the only other closed park and the series may be concluded there.

President Wally Yeamans was to contact Sprague today in an effort to have the finals switched here.

Regarding the announcement that it was a put-up job staging the finals in Vancouver, Yeamans had the following to say:

"Playoff dates for the finals were set some two months ago by western Canada officials. At that time it was thought that the Athletic Park would be unavailable for the series and with the consent of Victoria teams arrangements for the games to be played in Vancouver were made."

The statement of Doug Frank, president of the Lower Mainland Softball Association, that a round-robin series would be played in Vancouver to decide B.C.'s representative in the western Canada finals, is unauthorized, Yeamans stated.

Forest Products Win Calvert Cup Game

Dodo McKay, ace of the B.C. Forest Products hurling corps, had little trouble tossing his mates to victory last night as he set down the Junior Douglas Hawks nine, 10 to 2, in a Calvert Cup knockout softball game at Central Park.

Dominion Meat Market and Army and Navy Vets played to an 8 to 8 tie in another Calvert Cup game. Four home runs were hit in the contest.

Uplands Cup Golf Will Start Sunday

Play for the Uplands Cup will commence at the Uplands Golf Club Sunday when the first 18 holes of the 36-hole medal competition will be staged. Date of the second round will be announced later.

Entries should be made to the professional's shop before Thursday. Fred Briggs, last year's winner, is among the early entrants.

Canada's Tennis Stars In Bid For U.S. Singles Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Seventeen countries including Canada will be represented in the United States tennis singles championships opening at Forest Hills Friday, with Jack Kramer of Los Angeles shooting for his second straight title.

The United States Lawn Tennis Association, announcing the pairings for the annual event, disclosed that an even 100 entries had been received in the men's division while the feminine side of the entry list was limited to a tidy 64, just enough for a full bracket.

Twenty-eight men drew byes in the opening round of the 10-day court carnival, which attracted top-ranking amateurs from Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Czechoslovakia, Ecuador, England, France, India, Mexico, New Zealand, Romania, Sweden and the United States, including Hawaii.

John Bromwich, Australian Davis Cupper, heads the men's foreign seedings.

Margaret Osborne of San Francisco, favored to take the women's title vacated by Pauline Betz when she turned pro, is seeded first among the feminine entrants.

In the men's pairings James Macken of Montreal drew William Vogt of Drexel Hill, Pa., for their first round upper bracket match. Brenden Macken and Henri Rochon of Montreal both drew first-round byes.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

CLIMAXING A brilliant season Manager Jim Lackie and his Esquimalt Meat Market softballers have brought the British Columbia championship back to Victoria. After surviving a gruelling playoff for the island title with Ladysmith the Esquimalt lads traveled to the mainland and knocked over New Westminster Army and Navy in another limit series. Thus the title last held by the Navy club of this city returns to the Capital. For Lackie it was the second time he has guided a team to the provincial crown his last success being with the Longshoremen club several years ago.

ESQUIMALT MEAT now bide their time for the opening of the western Canada championships against the prairie winners Sept. 9. Unfortunately all the games will be played on the mainland. When plans were drawn up for the western playoffs it was decided it would be impossible to run off the games here owing to the lack of suitable grounds. Thus the fans of Victoria will not get a chance to watch their champions in action against the best club in the three prairie provinces. Such a set-up provides the softballers with added ammunition in their fight to secure better playing facilities before another season rolls around.

AFTER BEING A THREAT for the greater part of the season Victoria Athletics were knocked out of the W.I.L. pennant race Monday. Those two defeats at the hands of Bremerton ended the Victoria club's hopes of picking off the bunting won last season by Wenatchee. The A's still have a chance to finish in the first division and, in their final three games of the season here against Spokane Friday and Saturday, may play a leading role in determining the championship. It is possible Spokane will still be in the thick of the red-hot pennant scramble and may need the games here to stay up front.

VICTORIA CLUB'S challenge for first place was broken in that recent series in Vancouver when they dropped a doubleheader, each game by the margin of one run. A victory in either of those games would have made a big difference. Those two defeats marked the last serious bid of the A's to overhaul the leaders.

From there on the boys appeared to tail off and lose their drive. A serious blow to the A's in recent games has been the batting slump of first baseman Jack Harshman. The league's leading home run hitter didn't pick up a single base knock in the four games with Bremerton. His chances of breaking the home run record of 40 are mighty slim. Harshman has experienced a circuit blow famine since he smashed his 35th of the season here the night of Aug. 14.

Errors Cost Victoria Another Ball Game

Victoria Athletics continued to fall apart defensively, being charged with six errors in dropping a 5 to 3 Western International League ball game to Tacoma last night at the Washington city. The boners, five of them by the infield and three by third baseman Babe Jensen, ruined a seven-hit pitching job turned in by right-hander Len Kasparovitch. Only two of the five runs scored off Kasparovitch were of the earned variety. He didn't give up an extra-base hit.

Although definitely out of the pennant race, the Athletics still have a slim chance to make the first division providing they can pull themselves together and play the ball they are capable of.

The Athletics play Tacoma single games tonight and tomorrow evening, returning home to close out the season against Spokane, with three games Friday and Saturday.

Only a half game margin separated Vancouver from Bremerton and Spokane today, while Salem, fourth team in the rapidly fading pennant race, is only two games farther back. Bremerton edged Vancouver 8 to 7 last night while Spokane blasted Yakima 19 to 7 and Salem trounced Wenatchee 11 to 1.

Vancouver and Bremerton each sent three hurlers to the mound in their series opener with the latter's Bill Ahearn getting credit for the win. Bremerton marked up seven runs in a big fourth inning, squeezed over a singleton in the seventh and snuffed out a Vancouver rally in the eighth that netted two runs. Charlie Mead and Frank Mullens homered for the losers.

RECORDS THREATENED

Big innings also figured heavily at Spokane where the Indians bunched six runs in each the fourth, fifth and eighth innings. Bob Costello in winning his 21st of the year moved to within one game of the 22-game victory record by Bob Kinnaman of Spokane in 1941 and tied by Don Osborn of Vancouver a year later. Another record also was imperiled by the victor's Bob Morgan. His 18th triple of the season is but one from the record 19 set by Dwight Aden of Spokane in 1939.

While southpaw Kenny Wyatt held Wenatchee to seven bingles, Salem collected 13 from three Chieftain hurlers. Six hits good for as many runs won the game in the third inning.

Scores follow: R. H. E.
Bremerton 8 11 1
Vancouver 7 11 1
Batteries—Ahearn, Lowman (9), Marshall (8) and Volpi; Hall, Gunnarson (4), Hedegrock (9) and Brenner, Stumpf (9).
Wenatchee 1 1 3
Salem 11 13 2
Batteries—Osborn, Walthe (7), Byrd (8) and Dalrymple; Wyatt and Mohler.
Yakima 7 8 4
Spokane 19 13 3
Batteries—Strail, Brusch and Phillips; Costello and Buffalo.

The annual meeting of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association will be held at St. Louis College on Monday at 8. Election of officers will take place.

Major Ball Clubs Headed For New Attendance Mark

Only two major league baseball games were played Tuesday—both in the American League and neither affecting the standings.

In one, Cleveland Indians defeated St. Louis Browns in Cleveland 3 to 2 to move within three games of third place. In the other, Washington Senators topped the Athletics in Philadelphia 7 to 4. Red Embree blanked the Browns until the ninth when they scored two runs and drove him from the box.

Early Wynn won his 14th, limiting the A's to 10 hits. It was Philadelphia's seventh straight loss and left them in fifth place, 2½ games behind Cleveland.

While most major league teams took a rest, observers studied the attendance records.

With an unofficial count of 17,819,773 paid admissions for games through Labor Day, the major leagues appear certain of breaking last year's attendance record. They are less than 725,000 admissions short of bettering the 1946 mark of 18,534,444 paid.

This year, the National, involved in the tighter pennant battle, already has topped last year's figures with 9,162,192, a record for the league. The American has drawn 8,657,581.

New York Yankees, like last year, are far out in front in club attendance, having drawn 1,970,542 to the huge Yankee Stadium in 53 home dates. They are expected to crack the mark they established last year when they drew 2,265,512.

Brooklyn Dodgers are pacing the National League clubs with 1,701,638 cash customers. They have four more home dates in which to better their 1946 record high of 1,796,824.

Manager Gus Oglivie said last night Royals would travel to Switzerland to compete in the Olympics providing arrangements could be made where they could obtain a layover in the Quebec Senior Hockey League schedule.

Oglivie said Royals would have to be given a period of grace allowing them to fly to Europe, compete in the Olympic Games and fly back. His announcement followed the disclosure in London by George Dudley, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, that Royals had been given a bid to the Olympics.

Dudley expressed belief, in making the announcement, that Royals would not find it possible to make the journey to Europe, nor would any other top line team. The C.A.H.A. officials said that the time involved would mean too great a revamping of schedules for top teams to consider the proposal.

His views were paralleled to those expressed by George Slater, president of the Quebec Senior Hockey League. Slater said it would be up to the other teams.

Experts tell you how to be a hostess; but the art of being a guest is more difficult, and nobody tells you how to do it.

In the Q.S.H.L. to give an okay to Royals taking time out to make the Olympic trip.

International Soccer Series Suggested

MONTREAL (CP)—The Dominion Football Association, following its annual session in a week-end meeting here, announced today favorable acceptance of suggestions from the United States body looking toward an international match or series of matches.

Dr. G. Randolph Manning, the U.S. association head, made several suggestions: That the champions of the two countries play off; that representative all-star teams meet; that three zones be set up—east, centre and Pacific coast—and that championship matches be played between the respective Canadian and U.S. members.

The meeting put the final decision up to the council.

Only 73 Of 375,000 Soldiers Killed En Route Overseas

While Canadian servicemen casualties numbered 32,046 officers and men killed in action out of a total of 104,196 who suffered injuries, it is interesting to note that only 73 Canadian soldiers lost their lives while en route overseas out of a total of 375,000 transported.

It is noted also, in an Ottawa dispatch, that these 73 were lost in the sinking of one small vessel, Ss. Nerissa, which was hit by three torpedoes and sank in four minutes about 120 miles off Northern Ireland on the night of April 30, 1941. In World War II Canadian troops fought in more countries than ever before—Sicily, Italy, France, Belgium, Holland, North Africa and Hongkong.

$298,000,000 In Gratuities To Date

Figures compiled at army headquarters and released in Ottawa this week reveal that to Aug. 23, 590,188 Canadian army and ex-army personnel have shared $297,901,200 and a few odd cents in war service gratuities. More than 500,000 former army men and women have already received their final gratuity cheque.

The number of accounts still open is small, it was learned, and the total number of in-stream accounts now stands at 2181. These accounts are being paid monthly.

Provincial and city police here have been notified to watch out for Pavlukoff, the alleged slayer of a bank manager in Vancouver. There was a rumor that he might be trying to get to Vancouver Island, but police here have received no special bulletin to that effect.

Expect 1948 Delivery Of New C.P.R. Ships In B.C.

A 1948 delivery of the two new coastal vessels now being built for the C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Steamships Service is expected by George H. Baillie, vice-president of the new C.P.R. Pacific region, who is now in Victoria.

Later information suggests the vessels will not be ready for delivery before the fall of next year. It is also expected considerable outfitting will still have to be done following arrival of the vessels here. This work is expected to go to firms on the B.C. coast.

In view of these circumstances, it is not anticipated the vessels will be ready for service before early 1949.

At the same time, Mr. Baillie said Capt. O. J. Williams, manager of the B.C.C.S.S. would leave next month to inspect the two new ships, at present being constructed at Govan, Scotland.

Also to leave shortly is D. B. Prentice, assistant superintendent engineer of the coast service. Mr. Prentice will remain at the U.K. shipyards until they are ready for delivery here.

A third Victorian, James B. Reid, is already in Scotland, standing by the ships, one of which he will sail with as chief engineer when she leaves the yards.

The two new vessels will be equipped in much the same style as the Kathleen.

The ships are 355 feet long and have accommodation for 2,000 passengers and 60 automobiles. There will be sleeping accommodation for 100 passengers. Large public rooms have been designed to give the maximum of comfort to passengers.

Mr. Baillie, who is visiting Victoria for the first time since his appointment as vice-president of the Pacific region, also said reconstruction work would begin this week on the C.P.R. wharf destroyed at Port Alberni by fire just a little over a week ago.

Work is now under way on the new sea-land terminal at Nanaimo which will give Vancouver Island a modern entry point, designed to give a quick transfer by all C.P.R. ships from Vancouver to all island points, Mr. Baillie also reported.

Ottawa To Keep Fingerprints Of Armed Services

More than a million sets of fingerprints of servicemen and ex-servicemen, representing about half the male population of Canada between the ages of 18 and 50, are on file in Ottawa with the Canadian Armed Forces Identification Bureau. They are slated to remain on file.

The prints were taken during the war years with a view to establishing 100 per cent identification of men killed in action. They still are being retained for identity purposes only, and officials state that only in very exceptional circumstances will the information contained in the C.A.F.I.B.'s files be put at the disposal of police.

There are several good reasons why the armed forces have not destroyed 1,950,000 sets of fingerprints in their possession. For one thing, the prints afford fool-proof protection to a soldier or his next of kin alike in so far as pensions are concerned. This was not the case following the First Great War and records reveal that more than a few cases where someone other than the next of kin drew the pension of a husband or son killed in action.

The prints also serve to identify men who die by misadventure right here in Canada. In the north, recently, the body of an unknown man was washed up on the shore of a small lake. There was nothing in his clothing to identify him and police drew a blank when they checked their own files. They turned his fingerprints over to the C.A.F.I.B. on the chance that he had once served in the armed forces. He had, and his identity was established beyond reasonable doubt.

Proof of identity in such cases helps in the settlement of insurance claims. If a man's body is not identified, his widow might have to wait as much as seven years before she can, by law, take steps to have him legally presumed dead.

Mrs. Alan J. Campbell who is chairman of the Women's Division of the Salvation Army Campaign will preside at a meeting of workers at 3 on Thursday in Prince Robert House. Speakers will be Mrs. Major Howlett and Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Victoria advisory board. Women interested in assisting with the canvassing, or by driving their cars for campaign workers will be welcome.

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Peach shipments from British Columbia's Okanagan Valley have reached an all-time record, officials of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. reported. The 1,000,000-box mark was reached Saturday in shipments of peaches to the fresh fruit market.

Chilly For Women Packing Million Eggs For Britain

Some people may get "cold feet" starting out on a job but the 16 men and women who have taken on the task of re-grading, re-inspecting and re-packing 3,000 cases of eggs for Britain, will have cold feet for the next two weeks.

"Wouldn't you," ask about 10 girls, as they go through the speedy system of flash grading for A. P. Slade (Victoria) Ltd. in the B. Wilson Co. Ltd. cold storage plant on Herald Street, which began Tuesday and will conclude in two weeks' time.

With 360 eggs to a case 1,080,000 eggs will be looked over before the operation is completed.

The temperature stands at 32 degrees, according to William Hagger, Dominion egg inspector for Vancouver Island, who is directing operations. The girls break off every two hours to go out in the world of September warmth. They wear as many as four sweaters. If they haven't enough themselves they borrow from fathers, husbands, brothers or friends.

"One of the boys down here loaned me this air force jacket and I've borrowed my husband's navy sweater and socks," said Mrs. Marjorie Bell.

WEARS FOUR SWEATERS

A plucator was Doris Moscrip, who could claim ownership to her four sweaters. A kerchief on her head kept her ears from getting cold.

"The work is all right for a while but not permanently," said Doris, who admitted she had the fireplace going at home every night after work.

First lot of 1,320 cases of eggs will be shipped out of Victoria, for Britain, Sept. 15, aboard the Ms. Loch-Monar and the second lot of about 1,687 cases, Sept. 25, aboard Pacific Enterprise, Mr. Hagger said.

"First step in the operation is the unpacking of the boxes," he said. "The eggs are then taken out, three dozen at a time by a metal lifter. The lifter is slid into a cubicle lit by four globes in a box arrangement with a mirror at the rear at an angle of about 25 degrees.

"Here the grader is looking both into the mirror that reflects the flaws, that might occur and the eggs. She picks them out and then sends the remainder on the carriage to the packer at the other end.

STREAMLINED SYSTEM

"It's a streamlined system," Mr. Hagger continued. "There is a staff of about 16 and approximately 12 of them are girls."

The eggs are Victoria's contribution to Britain's special products board, he added. The whole operation is done to insure in so far as possible a good product on arrival in Britain. Any eggs that have shown deterioration through storage or any eggs with cracks are immediately taken out, he said.

"You have to go fast in this work because it is cold, but the time goes fast also," said Mrs. Violet Godfrey as she lifted out the eggs.

A veteran at the job was 19-year old Hazel Singh, who worked on egg grading in Edmonton last year. She stands in the covered cubicle and inspects the eggs, three dozen at a time. The light arrangement shows any defects.

Jacky Johnston, Mrs. Barbara Fairbairn, Mrs. Myrtle Watson, Mrs. Lillian Spellisley, Muriel Thompson and Mary Campbell were others on the job today.

While other housewives may complain of slaving in a hot kitchen, the egg graders work in a cool, cold storage plant.

Mr. Hagger, who can examine some 40 cases of eggs by himself in a day, inspecting the eggs individually, says he's still not tired of eggs.

"Have two every morning for breakfast, with or without bacon."

Tinned Tomatoes, Corn, Peaches To Be Up In Price

The pantry shelf will take another beating by way of price jumps, some small, some substantial on such items as tinned corn, peaches and pears, according to the spokesman for one local wholesale house today.

The increases are expected to hit the new pack of tinned and bottled goods once they reach the market, following announcement Tuesday of the removal of controls on a number of such goods.

"History of such things in the past has been, that when an item is released from control, that is still in short supply the price goes up," the spokesman said. "If the item is plentiful, competition sets in and holds the price line."

"Tinned tomatoes and tomato-by-products, with the exception of juice are expected to take a price increase for they are still scarce and will be next year. The same applies to corn."

With regard to fruits, he felt tinned peaches would be up, but pears would have no material increase, because of the excellent crop this year.

"Tomato ketchup will not be plentiful for another year," he said.

Saanich Council, at its meeting last evening, referred a protest from Massy Golden, Arlov Farms, Royal Oak, on the proposed establishment of a slaughterhouse on Burbridge Road to the health inspector for a report. Mr. Golden viewed the move as one that would result in unsanitary conditions, noting other residents in the area had also protested the move.

Schoolchildren who have been out of town during the holidays will thus be given an opportunity of seeing these pictures. An amendment to the zoning by-law requiring a minimum floor area of 800 square feet for all dwellings constructed in an area between Cordova Bay and East Saanich Road, was approved by Saanich Council at a public hearing Tuesday night prior to the regular meeting. Councillor Thomas Alexander, Ward 1, voted against the amendment, stating that he was unable to see why a single person should have to comply with the 800-square-foot rule in this or any other area.

Nuernberg Trials Lasting Landmark Says Alexander
OTTAWA (CP)—An effort to promote an international code of law and ethics among countries wishing to live in peace was urged by Viscount Alexander today in an opening address to the Canadian Bar Association.

Terming the Nuernberg war crimes trials "a lasting landmark in the history of international law," the Governor-General added:

"If we could feel confident that this new-found basis of world-law was as firmly set as the law which you practice, then all would be well. But at least it is a beginning of a world-conscience which we hope in future will bring in ever-increasing extent the weight of its authority against the aggressor and the international law-breaker."

Law was one of civilization's great bonds, he said. It linked the nations of the British Commonwealth closely and was "also one of our chief ties" with the United States.

I.W.A. Sets Sept. 10 As Strike Deadline In Furniture Plants

Harold Pritchett, president of the International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A.-C.C.L.) in British Columbia, announced in Vancouver Tuesday night that 1,000 furniture workers in British Columbia would strike Sept. 10 unless their contract demands were met.

Involved in the threatened strike were three firms in Vancouver, one in New Westminster and one in Victoria, Pacific Furniture Manufacturing Co., 878 Viewfield.

Differences between the union and the companies hinge on union demands for a 12½-cent-an-hour wage boost plus women's minimum wage increases to 69½ cents an hour, both retroactive to June 20, the Canadian Press reported from Vancouver.

Deadline for strike action came following a meeting Tuesday of the union's district policy committee and job stewards in the various plants.

Meanwhile in Vancouver R. V. Stuart, spokesman for the operators, reported he had applied for appointment of a conciliation officer by the provincial government.

Mr. Pritchett said he had wired Victoria, asking Premier John Hart, acting minister of labor, to intervene in the dispute between the I.W.A. and interior lumber operators.

Mr. Pritchett charged that John H. Rudock, Canadian Manufacturers' Association official, had failed to bargain in good faith as representative of the interior lumber operators.

Prosecution of Mr. Rudock was asked by Mr. Pritchett for "refusal to sign the contract in the Kelowna-Kamloops area."

W. H. Warren, parks administrator, has an article on "Tot Lots and Home Play Areas, a Joint Responsibility" in the latest edition of "The Recreation Review," a magazine printed by the Parks and Recreation Association of Canada. In it he details needs for small neighborhood play lots for younger children.

2 Polio Suspects In Hospital Here

Two more poliomyelitis suspects are in Royal Jubilee Hospital isolation ward. If these cases are confirmed it will bring the total for the Greater Victoria area up to seven.

One suspect is from Oak Bay. The Victoria suspect is a 17-year-old boy.

To date three of the five confirmed cases have been discharged from hospital, Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, said today.

He requested parents whose children have been excluded from school because of recent visits to the mainland, to keep the children away from all crowds during the two-week period.

He said that as soon as it is considered reasonably safe the restrictions will be lifted, and stressed that the regulations are for the protection of the children and will help prevent the introduction of poliomyelitis in the schools.

Hart Approves Charging Of 114 In Steel Strike

Prosecution of 114 steelworkers, two union officials and two union locals on charges of authorizing or participating in an illegal strike in Vancouver has been approved by Premier John Hart, acting Labor Minister.

The workers are members of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) who have been on strike in five plants since Aug. 21 seeking to enforce demands for higher wage contracts.

Pen Baskin, the union's international representative, and Ewart R. Orr, president of Local 3546, are charged with authorizing an illegal strike.

The charges, prepared by special prosecutor Oscar Orr, were made under the new provincial labor code, based on a strike occurring before a conciliation board had been appointed. The walkout followed a union-sponsored strike vote.

In size, the prosecution involves the largest number of persons in provincial history, except for 600 Doukhobors convicted of nude parading in 1932.

A lengthy legal battle is forecast. At Vancouver, Baskin said: "We intend to make them try each case individually."

Under the act, unions authorizing an illegal strike can be fined $125 for each day the strike lasts and unions' officials $50 each. Fines of $25 a day are provided for trade union members who "failed to cause representatives authorized... to bargain collectively."

Take Steps To Clean Up Waterfront

Take Steps To Clean Up Waterfront

Shantyboaters create new slum area at foot of Belleville Street, menacing waterfront area as fire hazard.

Former eyesore on the waterfront at foot of Erie Street, where the new Fishermen's Wharf is being constructed. Shantyboaters have been moved out of here and the cleaning-up of the beach is almost completed.

Regarded as a potential health and fire menace to the city, the Harbor Committee has resolved to find some means of cleaning up the littered condition of the city waterfront property at the foot of Belleville Street, Ald. F. N. Cabeldu, member of the Harbor Committee, said today.

This afternoon Ald. Cabeldu, Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, E. S. Gropp, sanitary inspector, and Capt. Newell inspected the area to see what health laws are being contravened and if it can be cleaned up on these grounds.

Last week, Ald. W. L. Morgan, chairman of the Harbor Committee, Ald. Cabeldu and Capt. R. O. Newell, harbormaster, inspected the debris-littered section of the beach and discussed methods of procedure which can be followed to clear out the shanty-boaters who have residence there, and also the old boats, driftwood and other junk which has been acquired and carefully piled there.

There are several angles from which the problem can be tackled, Ald. Cabeldu said, and he is investigating them before bringing the matter before the City Council for action, so the best method of procedure can be followed.

There are clearly marked "no trespass" signs posted on the beach, which give the shanty-boater residents no legal right to take up tenancy on the beach. There are no sanitary facilities of any kind for them, and all water used must be carried from nearby taps or houses.

"HEALTH MENACE"
Under one of the health by-laws, on the recommendation of the medical health officer, the City Council sitting as a board of health may declare a building "a nuisance or dangerous to the public health and safety" and order its demolition. Ald. Cabeldu said he was investigating to find out whether such conditions as prevail on the beach also be controlled under this, although strictly speaking they are not a building.

The fire chief could also be called into the picture, as one fire has already occurred among the debris. Fortunately it was placed under control before it spread to the nearby Bapco Paint works. With the wind in that direction a fire could spread from such a dump and virtually wipe out the whole waterfront, Ald. Cabeldu said.

There is some question as to whether any of the junk has any value, and if it has, who are the owners. Legal authorities say that the owners are trespassers on the property and their belongings can be classified as a nuisance. Under the law of trespass the owners can be notified, either personally or by public notice in the press, to remove the material within a certain specified time. If it is not removed within this time then the city will have the right to abate the nuisance by disposing of the material by removing them at the expense of the owners.

TRESPASS LAW
Capt. Newell explained that the trespassers were actually on the foreshore, and as the city owned the property behind the foreshore no one had any rights to occupy it without the city consent. Also it is the city responsibility to see that the foreshore is kept in a clean and sanitary condition. In case of any trespass action the harbormaster would enter the picture.

He said good progress has been made in cleaning up Erie Street, where 15 or 20 shanty-boaters formerly had residence. All that remains there now is a little debris which will shortly be cleaned out.

In addition to the health and fire menace, Ald. Cabeldu said, the littered beach is an eyesore and does not present a very pretty picture to tourists on boats entering the Inner Harbor.
